Reports Say 200,000 Nanking Troops to Drive On Forces in Peiping Area

Japanese Drive South on Railway

SHANGHAI (CP-Havas)—The Central (Chinese) news agency reported early Tuesday that Gen. Sung Chih-yuan, defeated head of the Chinese 29th Army, was preparing a full-scale counter-attack against the Japanese from Paoting, southwest of Peiping, where 200,000 Central government troops are concentrating.

NANKING (AP)—Official Chinese dispatches reported early Tuesday six Japanese airplanes had bombed Chinese troop positions at Nankou Pass, northwest of Peiping.

After the bombardment, the dispatches said, an additional force of 10 planes strafed the Chinese units. Japanese infantry and cavalry were reported repulsed in an assault on the pass.

JAPANESE CLOSE GATES

PEIPING (AP)—Japanese, in control of China's ancient dragon capital, closed the gates of Peiping Monday, virtually imprisoning foreigners within the walls as squadrons of Japanese planes blasted a path for a thrust deep into China.

Japanese authorities said their planes had been bombing Chinese army concentrations at Paotingfu, capital of Hopeh province 85 miles to the southwest, for the last 24 hours. Japanese scouting planes were ranging as far south as Tsinan in Shantung province, some 175 miles below Tientsin.

Although Japanese asserted the area around Peiping was quiet they erected heavy fortifications at both the east and south gates of the city. A United States army officer and missionary were halted at the east gate and refused permission to set out on a mission of mercy to Tungchow.

ALONG RAILWAY

The Japanese army, heavily reinforced, was penetrating rapidly to the south along the strategic railway to Hankow, main artery of the reported advance of 50,000 central government troops commanded by General Chen Cheng.

Many Viewing Finsler's Comet

Even With Naked Eye People Now Able to See Heavenly Body

CHICAGO (AP)—Telescopes all over this continent were trained today on a streaking bit of glowing light near the Pole star as Finsler's Comet—discovered a month ago—whirled through its third night of visibility.

But the celestial show was not for the savants alone. With the naked eye, Prof. George A. Van Biesbroeck of Yerkes Observatory said, amateur astronomers might now see the comet as "a medium-sized star" tearing through space. And up on the rooftops, where

TAX PAYMENTS UP THIS YEAR

Gain Is Noted in Both Prepaid Taxes and Arrears Over 1936

A gain of $11,832.46 in prepaid taxes for the first seven months of this year, over the same period of 1936, was noted in a report made to Mayor Gavin this morning by George Okell, city assessor and collector of taxes.

Prepaid taxes for the first seven months of 1937 amounted to $663,141.24. In the same period of 1937 prepaid taxes reached a total of $674,973.70.

The collector's report to the mayor also shows an increase in the arrears collected this year of $9,364.63.

Arrears collected from January 1 to July 31, 1936, were $127,518.69, compared to $137,283.32 for the same period of 1937.

Neutrality Steps Taken By Canada

Orders Ban Canadians Enlisting For Spain; Check On Munitions

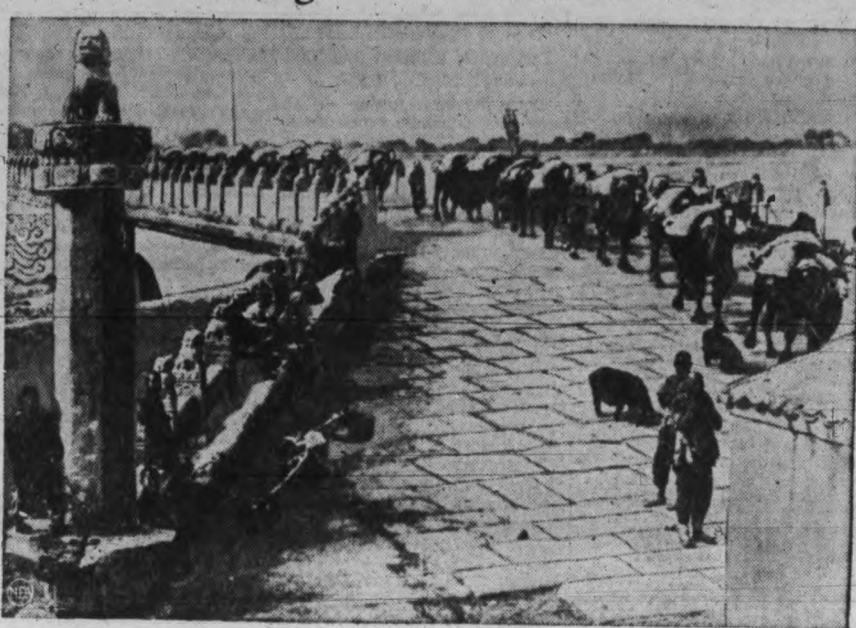

OTTAWA (CP)—Uncertainty as to the working of the Spanish non-intervention agreement has led Canada to take its own measures to safeguard its neutrality.

Orders-in-council just made public ban enlistment of Canadians in Spain, prohibit export of munitions to that country and forbid exports of munitions to any other country without permit. The orders, announced by the external affairs department, became effective Saturday.

Volunteering with either side in the Spanish civil war is made unlawful under the Foreign Enlistment Act and the other two orders are based on amendments to the Customs Act, Legislation on which the orders were based was passed at the last session of Parliament.

Ancient Bridge in North China War Area

Latest reports, telling how Japanese troops are in full control of Peiping, indicate other forces are moving southward toward where Nanking government troops are massing near the southern border of Hopeh province. The old Marco Polo Bridge over the Yunting River a few miles southwest of Peiping, was recently a scene of fighting, but the Japanese are reported in command of affairs there now. The above picture gives an impression of the marble structure, with its intricate Chinese stonework. A camel train was crossing it when the photograph was taken.

EIGHTEEN HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

But Only One, Negro, Seriously Injured in Oregon Accident

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP)—Eighteen persons were injured when two diners and four pullmans of a special 11-car train bound from California to Portland, Ore., with 140 passengers, jumped the main line Southern Pacific tracks near Yamsay, about 70 miles north of here, at 7.15 this morning.

Only one person, a negro porter, was reported seriously hurt. Boiling water from a container in one of the dining coaches spilled over him as the cars went teetering crazily along the road bed.

J. C. Leonard of the nearby Pelican Bay lumber camp said the accident ripped up nearly 300 feet of track. The cars did not tip over and damage was limited chiefly to broken windows. Observers gave a broken rail as the reason for the derailment.

Railroad officials said the accident could have occurred as the train passed a switch and a wheel flange broke. Names of the injured could not be learned here.

J. A. Ormandy, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific system said ambulances had been rushed from here to the wreck scene, which is in the Cascade Mountains.

A relief train with 30 men and equipment was rushed to the scene from Eugene, Ore.

NINE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Italian Machine Wrecked at Wadi Haifa Field in Anglo-Egyptian Sudan

WADI HAIFA, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—Nine passengers and members of the crew of a southbound Italian commercial plane were killed today when the plane crashed near the Wadi Haifa airfield.

The crew of five and the four passengers were believed all to be Italians. Witnesses said that when the plane was about to land the pilot speeded up the engine, apparently deciding he could not make a safe landing at the moment.

The machine touched earth and then "bounced about 90 feet in the air," a spectator declared. One engine caught fire as the plane fell to destruction.

SUICIDE NOTE FOUND ON PIER

Letter Signed "Rose Wells" in Seattle Clears Other Woman Convicted

SEATTLE (AP)—A suicide note asking United States Superior Judge Fred G. Remann of Tacoma to clear an innocent woman of charges on which she was convicted 12 years ago, was found beside a woman's faded beret at Pier 2, Detective Captain Marshall Scraftford said today.

The note was signed "Rose Wells," and said she was guilty of the $96 cheque forgery for which Mrs. Anne Simmons of Puyallup Valley, Wash., was found guilty on a grand larceny charge and given a two-year suspended sentence by Judge Remann.

With the letter to Remann was a note to Mrs. Simmons, Scraftford said. They were dated "June 1, 1936, Seattle, Washington, D.C."

"I am ending my life. I hope whoever finds my hat will send these letters to clear this poor woman for all my bad doings. God bless you, Mrs. Simmons. I hope you forgive me. Pray for me in the other world. Rose," the note said in part.

Holiday Traffic Great in Britain

People Flock From London to Seaside Resorts; Roads Crowded

LONDON (CP)—The August bank holiday—the last in England before Christmas—today found London silent and country and seaside resorts packed tight.

A whole weekend of fine weather started off tens of thousands of "trippers" who were beginning their vacations. Twenty-three thousand cars left London each hour Sunday morning and the procession continued today in only slightly reduced strength.

It wasn't society people who jammed up the Portsmouth Road with a 10-mile stream of cars, who overflowed accommodation in such spots as Bournemouth, Brighton and Margate. It was city workers, intent on getting the most out of the holiday week-end, opportunity for sunshine and exercise.

Rail traffic over the week-end was believed to have been the heaviest in recent years, 3,000,000 persons passing through London railway termini in 40 hours.

Three Doukhobors Hunted After Fires

Police Search After Destruction of Three Kootenay Barns and Rail Station

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Three men in a truck, seen speeding from a flaming building, were sought today by authorities investigating an outbreak of apparently incendiary fires, which destroyed a railway station and three barns Saturday night.

The truck was seen as a barn on the farm of Jim Foshnikoff in the predominantly Doukhobor-settled Slokan valley, 100 miles northeast of here burst into flame. Two other barns in the district settled thickly by members of the Russian religious sect were destroyed and abortive attempts were made to fire two other buildings.

The barn fires, occurring almost simultaneously with a blaze which destroyed the Great Northern Railway station here, were ascribed to Doukhobor incendiaries by Inspector John Macdonald of the British Columbia police here.

"There has been considerable friction between the Sons of Freedom and Named Doukhobors and the Community members, and these barn fires, we are convinced, are the result of this friction," Inspector Macdonald said at nearby Nelson.

Sharply at 7 this evening the festivities at the pioneer dinner in the Empress Hotel will go on the air, with a band-selection by the musicians of H.M.S. Exeter opening the programme. Mayor Andrew McGavin will follow with a two-minute address over the coast-to-coast hook-up and (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Press Links Are Being Restored

ROME (AP)—Italian newspaper correspondents withdrawn from London before the Coronation started back to England today to resume work. They were called home because of British press comments on the defeat of Italian volunteers serving with the Spanish insurgent forces.

Aboard Coastguard Cutter Argo, off Newport, R.I. (AP)—Overtaking her rival within an hour of the start, Harold S. Vanderbilt's snub-nosed, white-hulled sloop Ranger today scored her second successive triumph over the sixteenth British challenger for the America's Cup, T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II. Ranger rounded the final marker of the 30-mile triangular course with more than two and one-half miles to spare, and won as easily as in Saturday's inaugural.

Ranger crossed the finish line at 3.21.33 p.m., E.S.T., unofficially, with Endeavour trailing so far behind that she had been deserted by the spectator fleet.

When Ranger turned the second mark at 2.27.19 p.m., E.S.T., Endeavour was nearly two miles astern. It was plain then the defender was headed for as hollow a triumph as she scored in the opening race two days ago. The final 10-mile leg to the finish line was a broad reach on a course north-by-west one-half west.

As the defender was acclaimed by the horns and whistles of the accompanying spectator craft, the challenger appeared to be about three miles astern. The breeze had increased to about 12 miles.

Ranger's official finishing time was 3.21.33 p.m., E.S.T. Endeavour crossed the line at 3.40.05 p.m., E.S.T.

The record for a 30-mile triangular course, three hours, nine minutes, one second, was set by Sopwith's first challenger, Endeavour I, in her second victory over Rainbow, also skippered by Vanderbilt, September 18, 1934. Ranger, crossing the starting line today a second after the signal was hoisted at 8.40 a.m., sailed the distance in three hours 41 minutes 32 seconds.

NO RACE TOMORROW

As Endeavour finished Sopwith spoke to the committee boat, which then broke out code flags indicating there would be no race tomorrow.

The race committee said Sopwith had asked for a one-day postponement, to which he is entitled under the cup racing rules and which was granted, although the reason was not stated.

It was assumed the Briton wished to make changes in the blue-hulled sloop for which he held such high hopes of regaining the international yachting trophy for the first time since the schooner America took the cup in 1851.

Endeavour, despite the fact she finished 19 minutes 32 seconds behind the defender, was cheered as lustily as her conqueror, whose victory brought the standing to 43 races won by the United States against five won by the British challengers. Each of the 15 previous matches has been won by the United States entry. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5) years in jail and fines up to $2,000 for those who enlist with foreign armed forces in a conflict where this country is not involved. It supplanted the British Foreign Enlistment Act, which was not broad enough to include civil disturbances such as that in Spain.

The order-in-council makes the provisions of the act applicable to Spain. Accordingly it is unlawful for any Canadian national to enlist with either party in that conflict. Recruiting is similarly banned and penalties provided.

The amendment to the Customs Act requires persons exporting or carrying war materials to obtain a permit, pay fees and comply with regulations. It also gives the governor-in-council power to prohibit, restrict or control export to any destination or carrying on of coastwise or internal trade in war materials or their importation.

Under the order made public at the week-end, no person may export from Canada to any destination arms or munitions set forth in a long list embracing practically all kinds of arms and military equipment of all kinds, including aircraft and poison gases, without first having obtained a permit from the National Revenue Department.

Applications for permits are required to furnish, in respect of each shipment for export, information in writing setting forth details as to the seller, purchaser, consignee, description, quantity, value and specific purpose.

The other order prohibits the export of arms, war material, aircraft, aircraft engines or munitions to Spain or Spanish territory, directly or indirectly.

Infractions of the provision against export of arms are punishable under the Customs Act to fines as high as $1,000 and imprisonment up to four years. In addition the goods would be confiscated.

The External Affairs Department said: "Under the non-intervention agreement, to which nearly all European states are parties, a system of control over the entry of munitions or recruits into Spain has been in effect for some time."

"Uncertainty as to the future working of that agreement has now made it desirable for Canada to put into force its own measures, as contemplated by the legislation of last session, for the observance of a non-intervention policy."

OLD-TIME PROGRAMME FOR BANQUET TONIGHT

the Arion Male Chorus will be heard prior to a historical narration on Victoria by Edward F. Fox. Interspersed in the narration will be short interviews of old-timers by W. J. Herbert of the special events and public features department of the CBC.

The Arion Club choir will break into the stirring strains of "John Peel" at the conclusion of the interviews and R. P. Tutchart, freeman of the city will speak briefly before Wm. Tickle's orchestra draws the broadcast to a close with a musical selection.

In the ensuing entertainment a programme of graceful old-time dances, including the polka, classical ballet, character song and dance, numbers performed by ladies in crinolines, the minuet, the gavotte, old-fashioned song, with a dancing chorus and the lancers and quadrilles, will be rendered by members of Dorothy Wilson's Russian Ballet School. Classical selections and songs popular in years gone by will be presented in the musical section of the entertainment by such well known artists as Mrs. Florence Gunn, Maquinn Daniels, Dudley Wickert, Phyllis Charlebois, Dorothy Parsons, Phyllis Deaville, Ethel Stubberts, Catherine Denison, Jack Townsend and Frank Sehl.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Eliza Dumbleton will assist Miss Daniels as accompanist.

Soviet Weapons For Chinese Reported

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The newspaper Yomiuri Sunday declared that negotiations were going on for the conclusion of a secret treaty between China and Soviet Russia for the supply of Soviet arms to China. The Chinese central government, said the Yomiuri, had refrained from accepting Soviet aid until now for fear of displeasing Great Britain.

Seattle Police Arrest Reporters

Leads to Charges of Disorderly Conduct

SEATTLE (AP)—Police arrested 19 American Newspaper Guild men and women today in dispersing a picket line of about 50 persons which blocked entrances to The Seattle Star plant, where a Guild strike has been in progress since early in July.

Two pickets, bearing strike signs, were permitted to remain in front of the plant, which has been publishing after a four-day shutdown ended early last month when police dispersed a similar picket line.

Capt. J. J. Haag, who directed the prisoners be booked for disorderly conduct, said they were not legal pickets. They included Jack Heise, reporter - photographer and chairman of the Star Guild unit.

The arrests began at 7.30 a.m. The strikers reiterated they were ready to return to work in a body, but the management said it desired to leave the entire matter to the United States National Labor Relations Board, to which the Guild originally complained, and which ended a hearing of "unfair labor practices" charges against The Star last week. The board has the charges under advisement.

Airplane Show At Vancouver

Formation and Stunt Flying
Thrills Thousands at Sea Island

VANCOUVER—Vancouver went "air-minded" Saturday when thousands of spectators flocked to the Sea Island airport and witnessed the Western Canada Airshow held under the sponsorship of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade.

Scores of planes, from the smallest type of single-seater to giant skyliners of the trans-Canada and United air lines, dotted the sky above the airport as the show started. A squadron of navy fighters came from the Sand Point station at Seattle.

The show was not without its breathless moments as Ted Rankin of Hollywood, world champion stunt flier, put his ship through its paces and a Vancouver parachute jumper, Cecil McKenzie, made a bat wing jump.

Officials of the show found McKenzie unable to get his wings inside the plane from which he was to jump, so they had one door of the plane taken off.

The parachutist went aloft sitting on the floor of the cabin with his feet outside and his "wings" plastered along the side of the ship.

McKenzie "baled out" at 8,000 feet, but spun around and around, unable to get control of himself with his "wings," strapped to his arms. At 1,000 he was forced to open his parachute and he landed safely.

RANGER WINS SECOND RACE BY BIG LEAD

and Vanderbilt currently is engaged in his third defence of the "old mug."

Endeavour rounded the second mark at 2.43.36 p.m., E.S.T., 16 minutes 18 second behind Ranger. Ranger had hit a 10-knot pace coming down the second leg. Vanderbilt kept the same canvas set for the final leg—a staysail inside her quadrilateral, or Greta Garbo, jib.

Ranger rounded the first mark, 10 miles from the start, at 1.26 p.m., E.S.T., with the British craft more than a mile astern.

Endeavour rounded the first marker at 1.36 p.m., E.S.T.

From the first to the second buoy was a 10-mile broad reach east to south.

HAZY DAY
When the spectator fleet, much reduced in size from that which followed the opening race on Saturday, moved out of Newport harbor this morning it moved in a sun-drenched haze.

The rival sloops hit the starting line at approximately 11.40 a.m., on close to even terms a second behind the starting signal. Vanderbilt came about on the starboard tack two minutes after the get-away.

They were separated by about 300 yards and it was difficult at first to indicate whether either had benefited by their opposite starting tacks.

Endeavour took the lead shortly after the start, although Ranger was slightly to the weather side. The British yacht footed faster on the starboard tack and the defender lost some time coming about after crossing the line on the port tack.

Despite the lightness of the breeze, the contestants were making about seven knots in a smooth sea. Their tall masts and spinnaker sails moved ghost-like through the haze that had hung over the ocean all morning.

Sopwith switched to the port tack at 12.17 a.m., E.S.T. Vanderbilt remained on the starboard tack, thereby saving the right-of-way. The first critical test drew close as the rivals neared each other.

Endeavour had established a lead of two or three boat lengths at 1.29 p.m. Ranger went over on the port tack as the sloops were converging on opposite tacks, indicating clearly the challenger would have crossed the defender's bow.

WORKED THROUGH LEE

Endeavour's lead was of short duration, and when she returned to the starboard tack at 1.35, E.S.T., Ranger had taken command. The American sloop had worked through the challenger's lee, outfooting and outpointing her.

Sopwith held to the starboard tack only five minutes before returning to the port and taking up the stern chase of Ranger, which was drawing away steadily. The extra tacks were costly to the challenger, although the crew was handling the sails smartly.

At 1 p.m., E.S.T., Ranger led about three-quarters of a mile and was increasing the margin steadily.

Ranger went through Endeavour's lee, then began working to windward until the challenger found herself in disturbed air and was compelled to tack away.

When she returned to the chase, Ranger was far ahead. Although not pointing as high on the wind as Ranger, the challenger seemed to be pinched and her staysail fluttered frequently.

Divorce Suit Ended By Death

Herself in San Francisco
As Hearing Nears

SAN FRANCISCO—The contested divorce case of wealthy Dr. Lionel Paget Player and his wife, Emily, which has stirred San Francisco society for months, was ended today with the death of Mrs. Player. The coroner's office reported she had hanged herself.

The body was found yesterday by a maid, Bertha Kochan, who told authorities she thought her mistress had hidden in the Player mansion basement to say "boo" to her.

Deputy Coroner M. J. Brown, describing the case as a suicide, made public a farewell note which he said Mrs. Player had left for her husband.

"I love you too much," read the note.

TEXTILE MILLS' STAFFS STRIKE

Only One Plant of Dominion
Firm in Quebec Province
Operating

MONTREAL (CP)—A month-old threat to tie up the textile industry in the province of Quebec in an effort to gain the right of collective bargaining, higher wages and shorter hours materialized partially today when workers, estimated as high as 10,000, refused to enter nine plants.

The strike call sent out by the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers was answered by employees of Dominion Textiles Ltd. and a subsidiary, Montreal Cottons. Federation spokesmen saying they were prepared to remain idle for a month at least, said it was "only a beginning."

All employees of other textile plants, they said, would join the strike movement if the companies refused to grant the demands.

G. Blair Gordon, general manager of Dominion Textiles Ltd., who returned last week from a trip to Europe, said that "as far as we are concerned there is nothing to negotiate."

Gordon, a son of Sir Charles Gordon, said the company was willing to submit the case to the newly-appointed Fair Wage Board when it comes into being September 1.

NO DISCUSSION

Doubt was expressed as to the possibility of company heads meeting union spokesmen.

Duce Writes To Chamberlain

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini has assured Prime Minister Chamberlain of his friendship in a personally-signed letter, it was announced officially today.

The letter was presented to Mr. Chamberlain by Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Great Britain.

Disclosure of Mussolini's letter followed upon announcement of a letter which Mr. Chamberlain had sent to Il Duce last Saturday. That letter was interpreted by persons close to the British government as an effort by the British Premier to improve Italo-British relations.

While not naming any suspect, Corp. J. W. Hooker of the Grand Forks Provincial Police division said of the Great Northern station fire:

"I'm almost positive it was incendiary."

SECOND ATTEMPT

Police recalled a previous unsuccessful attempt to fire the small frame station here within the last 12 months in pointing to incendiarism as a probable cause of the blaze. The little building, combining a waiting room and freight shed, was valued tentatively at less than $500.

Coal oil flared in the kitchen of Nick Arishenkoff's home at Grand Forks while 20 occupants of the building were asleep Saturday, but Arishenkoff arrived home to check the blaze before any damage was done.

At Slokan Park, a largely Doukhobor settlement, Nick Poochachoff saved his barn and contents after a fire in the building had been discovered before it could gain headway. It was extinguished.

The barn on the farm of Pepe Poochachoff nearby was destroyed. The barn on the farm of Alex Posenikoff at Shoreacres, as well as that of Jim Posenikoff, between Perry Siding and Appleton, was razed.

Police said there was nothing at the scene of any of the fires to point to the incendiaries, and based their hopes of arrests on identification of the three men seen fleeing from Posenikoff's farm.

Reinforcements for some 25,000 Japanese troops mopping up in the area were being poured into north China both through the Great Wall passes to the north and by rail from Shan-haiwan on the Manchukuo border to the east.

Troop movements completely disrupted all normal rail service throughout Hopeh province. Schedules were almost inoperative north of the border of Shantung province.

MANY CHINESE PLANES

Tientsin, Japanese army headquarters 60 miles southeast of Peiping, was quiet but tense. The Japanese tightened their grip on the city as a result of reports that Chinese airplanes in great numbers had been scouting the Tientsin area.

The Soviet consulate-general at Tientsin was invaded and wrecked by white Russians. Soviet sources charged Japanese plain clothes operatives aided in the raid during which many of the consular records were carried off. Japanese denied they had participated.

The Russian report said that the raiders, armed with rifles and machine guns, broke down the consulate's doors while Japanese troops halted traffic in the vicinity.

TOKIO (AP)—After an urgent conference with Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono, Emperor Hirohito Monday approved sweeping changes in the Japanese army in what was believed was preparation for extended warfare with China.

Four new divisional commanders and a new commander for the former Chinese island of Formosa were named. All except one have had extensive experience in China, indicating the four divisions may be preparing for embarkation to the north China war zone.

Li-Gen, Waichiro Sonobe, called the "devil general" by the Chinese because of his exploits in Manchukuo, was named to command the 7th Division; Lt. Gen. Kesago Nakajima was given the 16th Division; Lt. Gen. Susumu Fujita the 3rd Division; Lt. Gen. Marquis Toshihiko Maeda the 8th Division and Lt. Gen. Moto Furu-sho was made commander of the Formosan garrison. Gen. Maeda, the wealthiest officer in the army, is the only one inexperienced in China fighting.

The army changes involved 2,500 promotions and 3,400 transfers. Only 50 officers were placed on the retirement list in view of the serious north China situation. CHINESE ARMY 250,000

Japan was disclosed to have already moved five army divisions to Hopeh province to meet what it declares is the threat of 250,000 troops mobilized by China. Japanese nationals were being evacuated from China.

Officials indicated the empire was preparing for a prolonged conflict as efforts were made to push through a 406,000,000-yen (about $155,000,000) appropriation for operations in north China.

The Chinese, defeated in the brisk fighting for north China, were thought to be retreating to the southern boundary of Hopeh province, where the "front" was expected to be established along the Yellow River.

Official Foreign Office dispatches today asserted 290 Japanese and Koreans, including women and children, were slain by Chinese guerrillas in Friday's mutiny at Tungchow, seat of the independent Hopeh regime 12 miles east of Peiping.

When the troops, long used by Japan as the wedge of her influence in north China, rebelled and captured the Japanese residents, they stood their captives against a wall in front of a firing squad, the dispatch said.

Veterans Parade At Brantford

Victoria Cross Men Take Salute as 5,000 British Ex-Soldiers March

BRANTFORD, Ont.—A thin line of Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross took the salute of 5,000 of their comrades of the Great War today as the first reunion of veterans of the British Army resident in Canada—now forged into the Imperial Corps Association of Canada—neared its end.

The march past was the "warriors' parade," signaling the breakup of the great encampment of Salisbury Camp in Agriculture Park, where for the past three days the veterans attending the meetings have been quartered. The toast to the King tonight will conclude the reunion, called to weld scattered local organizations into one Dominion-wide body.

The veterans decided to send a delegation to England to petition the British government for financial aid. A special inquiry by a parliamentary committee will be asked.

The committee, if established, would investigate charges of "neglect and discrimination against ex-imperials in the Dominion." The veterans threatened to do everything in their power to prevent further migration from Great Britain to Canada unless the British government reverses its policy of refusing financial aid to veterans residing overseas.

Baking powder was discovered about the middle of the past century.

Dividends Soon From Resources

CALGARY (CP)—Premier Aberhart told a Social Credit rally at the Prophetic Bible Institute Sunday that Alberta intends to pay its debts and basic dividends through an intensive natural resources programme.

"We have no intention of confiscating from those who have to give to those who have not," he declared. "No intention whatever."

"We have immense natural resources in this province. We have many men and machines standing idle. It is our purpose to bring these two together so there will be increased production and plenty for all."

"You must be aware that our people have not yet begun to scratch the resources of our immense provincial wealth," he continued. "We certainly can produce more. The federal Year Book estimates the productive value of our natural resources at $2,506,000,000. Our technical experts, after careful investigation, confirm that the productive value of our natural resources is easily three times the Dominion estimate."

The Premier reviewed the various resources, grain fields that produced "about a third of a crop" last year, ranch lands, oil and gas, lumber, tar sands and coal.

BIG COAL SUPPLIES

"Alberta has one-seventh of the coal resources of the world," he said.

Estimates placed the oil reserve in the Fort McMurray tar sands at 100,000,000,000 barrels, he said, and on this the Alberta government would collect a 10 per cent royalty.

"Our total debt could be easily solved by the royalty on the gasoline and oil that comes out of the McMurray sands," he declared.

"Yet, when we write the bondholders and tell them we are going to be able to pay our debts in full someone wants to know how we are going to do it and would not even give us the names of the bondholders."

"Are we ready to back up in a visible, audible way our demands from those who are interfering with them?" he asked. "We know the cause of this trouble is the lack of purchasing power in the hands of the consumer. That is so evident anybody can see it. We are, therefore, demanding that increased purchasing power in the form of monthly dividends be issued, and a lower cost of living be arranged."

Woodworkers State Position

H. Pritchett Says Board Will Explain C.I.O. Link to All Carpenters in U.S.

HOQUIAM, Wash. (CP)—Harold Pritchett, president of the new International Woodworkers of America, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, gained entry to the United States from Canada Sunday on a border permit.

The Vancouver, B.C., labor leader answered a challenge of A. W. Muir, Pacific Coast Carpenters' and Joiners' leader, that carpenters would not handle one stick of C.I.O. lumber, by saying "the International Woodworkers do not believe that carpenters intend to boycott themselves out of a job."

Pritchett, who had been refused entry to the United States on several occasions because authorities said he might become a charge on that country, issued a prepared statement of the executive board on jurisdictional union disputes.

"It is not the intention of the International Woodworkers of America to encroach on the jurisdiction of any union regardless of its affiliation," the statement said. "Our jurisdiction remains the same as before, from the stump to the finished product. We will fight to maintain it."

The executive board decided to communicate with each carpenters' local in the United States in order to explain the recent action in affiliating with the C.I.O. by the woodworkers. An appeal for support will be made to each union.

W. N. Hyde Of Penticton Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Noble Hyde, 86, resident of Penticton, B.C., died in a hospital here Sunday.

A retired electrical contractor, he had lived in Penticton for the past 13 years. He was born in Sweetsville, Ont.

Five Provinces Plan Suggested

P. Gouin, Quebec Party Leader, Urges Abolition of Canadian Senate

MONTREAL (CP)—Abolition of the Senate and division of Canada into five sections instead of the present nine provinces is suggested by Paul Gouin, Action Libérale Nationale leader, as a step towards a more supple confederation and one more in conformity with the geographic, economic and ethical characteristics of the country.

Speaking at a meeting described as "non-political" at nearby L'Assomption on Sunday, the one-time ally of Premier Maurice Duplessis said he was categorically opposed to any revision of the British North America Act which would mean more centralization of powers with the federal government.

The act, he asserted, should be revised to divide Canada into five sections, "each different from the others from the geographic, economic viewpoints, and from the point of view of the mentality of their inhabitants."

The A.L.N. leader said his plan called for unification of the three prairie provinces into one, also bringing together the Maritime Provinces. "We could then reduce," he added, "the number of legislators sent to Ottawa, abolish the Senate and certain ministries which duplicate the work of the provincial officers, and we could, moreover, give those five new provinces wider legislative powers which would permit them to face their new obligations."

Shrine Ball Colorful Party

Nearly 1,000 Guests Entertained By City at Hotel

With all the color and gaiety traditional to Shrine functions, the ball given in honor of the visiting members of the North-west Shrine Council on Saturday evening was one of the highlights of the city's 75th anniversary celebrations.

The affair was held at the Empress Hotel, the crystal ballroom and foyer being used to accommodate the 600 Shriners and their accompanying ladies, the guests numbering in all about 1,000. The city acted as hosts to the visitors, and Mayor and Mrs. Andrew McGavin came on from the flower show at the Willows in time to welcome the guests, practically all the other members of the City Council and their wives being present in the roles of hosts.

The brilliant uniforms, with scarlet satin pantaloons, green embroidered velvet zouaves and tasseled fezes worn by the members of the order, imparted an unusually festive appearance to the gay scene.

Chief among the hundreds of visiting guests were the new president, William A. Eastman, Seattle, with Mrs. Eastman, and the retiring president, Fred Bay, Portland, with Mrs. Bay. Heading the British Columbia Shrine contingent was Frank Patterson, Vancouver, head of Gizeh Temple, which includes the Shrine members in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

All the visiting Shrine units were splendidly represented and easily distinguishable by their uniforms - Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Boise and Lewiston (Idaho), Calgary and New Westminster.

Dancing began at 9 o'clock and continued until midnight, a 14-piece orchestra playing the latest as well as many old-time dance tunes.

The committee in charge of the ball arrangements comprised the three Shrine members of the City Council, Aldermen T. W. Hawkins, Edward Williams and John A. Worthington.

St. John's Is Scene of Nuptials

Miss Margaret Jones Pretty Bride of Horace W. Miller

One of the prettiest weddings of the summer season drew a large congregation to St. John's Church on Saturday evening when Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage Margaret Thompson, youngest daughter of Mrs. Stephen Jones, 248 Douglas Street, and the late Mr. Jones, and Mr. Horace Walter Miller, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller, "Kearley," Beach Drive, Uplands.

Given away by Mr. Samuel McClure, an old friend of the family, the bride was an attractive figure in her gown of ivory silk lace over crepe, fashioned with a long train, the bodice having a high neckline, and long tight sleeves buttoned closely at the wrists. A coronet of pearls and orange blossoms confined her filmy veil to the head, and she carried a shower of butterfly roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

FIVE ATTENDANTS
Miss Mildred Jones, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing coral chiffon over gold, the full skirt extending to a brief train. A graceful scarf of coral and peach chiffon arranged in cape-like effect, a halo hat of georgette to match her gown, trimmed with velvet ribbons, and an arm bouquet of Talisman roses completed her attire.

The four bridesmaids were Miss May Miller, sister of the bridegroom, and Misses Ruth Norton, Muriel Winterbottom and Roma Dorman, who all wore frocks of coral chiffon over gold, trimmed with shirred cords of chiffon. They wore hats of georgette to match their gowns, in off-the-face style, with velvet ribbon streamers at the back, and carried arm bouquets of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Arthur Luney supported the groom, and Messrs. Vernon Ridgway, Wallie Mosedale, Lionel Dickson and John Todd escorted the guests to their pews, which were tied with posies of pink carnations and white satin ribbon.

Mr. G. Jennings Burnett was at the organ. The church was beautifully decorated with standard baskets of flowers in pastel shades, with ivory cathedral candles in tall standards beside the pulpit and lectern.

RECEPTION HELD
After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jones receiving the guests in a French gown of black printed crepe, ruffled and lace, with a pleated shoulder cape of lace, and a model hat of black net and lace, trimmed with an egret. She was assisted by Mrs. Miller, wearing a printed ensemble of rose and blue tulle on a white ground, with a rose moiré turban trimmed with blue flowers and a pink veil. Both wore corsage bouquets of gardenias.

The young couple stood in the beautifully decorated drawing-room beneath a floral arch and white wedding bell to receive felicitations, the reception rooms being massed with gladioli, stocks and butterfly roses. The bride's cake was cut in the drawing-room, supper being served in the dining-room, the table being decorated with white stocks, lily of the valley, gladioli and garlands of sweet peas hanging from the electrolier to each corner of the table.

The bride and groom left later on a motor trip to the south, and will return in about three weeks and make their home on Transit Road, Oak Bay. For traveling, the bride donned a three-piece suit of fine French blue flannel, with navy blue accessories, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

The date for the summer open-air concert of the Arion Club has been fixed for Thursday, August 12. P. J. Hughes, assistant conductor, will lead the choir. The programme will be heard in Beacon Hill Park. The usual practice of the Arion Club to donate the proceeds to a local charity will be adhered to. A collection will be taken and given to the funds of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms.

Married In England

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bailey, whose marriage took place at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, on June 2. The bride was formerly Miss Amy Heatt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Heatt of Victoria.

Court Rules Mother To Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—The court of domestic relations has ruled a working mother must contribute to the support of her children on the same basis as her estranged husband.

Observing the mother "is no longer always the homemaker," Justice Jacob Panken said Saturday the case undoubtedly was the first in which such a ruling was made.

The father, a Works Progress Administration worker, earns $58 a month and gives $25 to his children, six-year-old twin girls, who live with their grandmother. The mother, a stenographer earning $1,350 a year, was ordered to pay a like amount.

The court, following its custom, did not reveal their names.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tune up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four years of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Venus Women Oust Glamour Girl

"Women will turn their attention from wardrobe and make-up details to more worldly affairs," he said.

Competition among women will stimulate the new type and new strength, Mancuso added.

"For that matter, women are already stronger than men, as a general rule," he said.

Woman as North Woods Guide

ELY, Minn. (AP)—Milady may have the services of doctors and lawyers of her own sex and now, should she like to rough it a bit, she may utilize a woman north woods guide.

But she must make her appointment far in advance for Miss Marie Sarkipato says business is so good that bookings run into September.

The comely young woman, blonde and 19, obtained her woods training early. Her father, Otto Sarkipato, operated a boat livery on Shagawa Lake, where Marie was born, for more than 20 years. That is responsible for the young lady's training.

Miss Sarkipato (she pronounces it sar-kee-pato) caters exclusively to women, although she has guided couples through the Border Lakes canoe routes which frequently keeps her in the wilds two weeks at a time.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1937

Conflicting planetary aspects are active under this planetary government, according to astrology. While success is promised for persons of courage and decision, they may encounter sudden obstacles.

The moon today occupies Venus, and from this the stars forecast much of concern to dwellers on the planet Earth. Astrologers now emphasize the importance of international friendship and alliance.

Under this direction of the stars love affairs will be sudden, the stars predict. As world chaos threatens human souls seek succor in romance.

Commerce and trade now should show increase. This augurs stimulates enterprise and encourages expansion.

This is a lucky day for signing legal papers of every sort, especially leases or contracts. Warning is given of rise in rentals and cost of living in the autumn.

Vagaries of weather will continue and in many places excessive heat will extend far into the fall. Violent storms are to mark late September. Many thunderstorms are forecast for this month.

Criminal organizations will be more and more active, despite widespread revelations regarding methods. As relief funds shrink thefts will increase this month.

Boulter Honored At Summer Show

Former Secretary Is Presented With Life Membership in Society

In 17 years as secretary of the Victoria Horticultural Society, F. E. Boulter has seen it grow from a membership of 13 to over 300.

A month ago he resigned and on Saturday evening before a large crowd at the Summer Flower Show, Mr. Boulter was presented with a life membership in the society.

Only once previously has this honor been bestowed on any member and that was to Horace Whiteoak, past president.

spoke briefly of the society work in beautifying the city, and cited the Central School grounds as an example.

Duncan D. McTavish, secretary, expressed the thanks of the society to Mayor and Mrs. McGavin, who had assisted in the opening and closing of the show.

Fulleton-

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Poor Mary!" sighed Imogene. "I don't like her," said Andrew promptly.

"But you don't even know her!"

"That's unreasonable."

"Not at all."

"You are condemning some one unheard."

"I don't want to hear about her!"

"What's the matter with you, Andrew?"

"It's with her," insisted Andrew.

"You don't even know who she is!"

"Oh, yes, I do. She is Poor Mary."

"Poor Mary Who?"

"I don't even care. She is Poor Mary and I never want to know any one who is Poor Mary."

"Poor John, Poor Tom, Dick or Harry. It is the prefix which I object. All people who are spoken of with that prefix are rabbits!"

"Why, Andrew?"

"Yes, they are. All of the people who wear that prefix like a billygoat wears whiskers on his chin, are people who have given up to some sorrow or affliction and have dived into it like a timid rabbit diving into a burrow, or are crouched behind it trembling, like a rabbit hides behind a bunch of grass."

"Those people are the people who have been weak spines and are afraid to face their sorrows or their misfortunes. Thus they become Poor Marys that every one is duty bound to pity and make allowances for. If they had the real stuff in them, they would snap out of it and lick their misfortunes or their sorrows, and not wear that prefix."

"These people have all had some deep sorrow, some death of a loved one, some serious illness, some loss of money or a good job, some unhappy love affair or some other misfortune, but they have hidden behind it while a thousand other people all around them have let a similar past be past, and with chin up have faced and licked the world.

"The people who are Poor Marys have taken a beating from life and settled down to being sacrificial lambs and objects of pity. No one ever felt pity for a person to whom he did not feel superior. We look down on people we pity, and nobody cares to be around a person on whom he must look down.

"I don't like Poor Marys and I am willing to say so. Every one gets some bumps in life. Those who take it on the chin and come back for more, have the love and admiration of every one. The ones who take it sitting down and do nothing about it, have the pity of the world, perhaps, but never any of its admiration.

"A poor mouth is a poor substitute for a smile. A trembling chin is a poor substitute for one which juts out and dares the world to punch it again. I don't want to know Poor Mary, and I refuse to feel sorry for her."

"I do," said Imogene, smiling.

"I suppose I should ask what misfortune befell her."

"I won't tell you."

"Why not?"

"You will laugh."

"I need a good laugh," begged Andrew.

"She has a gorgeous figure, and she wore her dress too tight to the dance Saturday night."

"Then what?"

"She sat down and it split in three places, and she had to sit there the rest of the evening and refuse to dance."

"Poor Mary!" laughed Andrew. (Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

SHRINERS IN FINE PARADE

Thousands Line Streets to See Excellent Performances By Visitors

Victorians thrilled to the finest parade of Shriners in the history of the city on Saturday and thousands lined the streets of the business section to see close to 500 uniformed men from all parts of the Pacific Northwest march in all the magnificent splendor of their Oriental robes.

Headed by Mayor McGavin in an open car, the parade marched down Yates to Douglas, to Fort, to Government, to Yates and Douglas, where it broke up, groups going to busy corners of the city to play an hour's concert.

At frequent intervals applause broke out among the spectators. The various drill teams performed as they marched, the bands were in their best form and one group marching behind its band sang splendidly.

TRAFFIC TIED UP

The parade, which lasted about an hour, tied up street traffic. Street cars and buses were lined for blocks, but no one seemed to mind. Everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion and thoroughly enjoyed the show. It took nearly an hour for street traffic to move again in normal fashion. The sidewalks were thronged with pedestrians, most of whom were residents, out many hundreds were tourists. British sailors from H.M.S. Exeter and American sailors from U.S.S. Eagle, in uniform, added to the cosmopolitan air of the city.

The silk and satin uniforms of the Shriner, their colorful headgear, the band leaders with their great batons, the xylophone which one band carried, its silvery notes making splendid music—all were most picturesque and made the parade well worth seeing.

Conspicuous in the parade were the Union Jack, the Stars and Stripes and various Temple Emblems. All were on magnificent silken cloth, heavily fringed in gold and silver.

CONVENTION HALL

Following the parade the Shriner went to the Shrine Hall for dinner and later adjourned to the Empress Hotel where the two-day session was concluded with a gay ball. Most of the visitors left yesterday on various boats for Seattle, Port Angeles and Vancouver although Shrine uniforms were still seen on the streets of the city this morning.

Saturday evening the Shrine Chanters performed on the Showboat and delighted a vast audience, which filled every seat and overflowed onto the sidewalks and the causeway.

The town was brilliant Saturday evening. The lighted streamers across the main streets, lent a carnival atmosphere; there were various lighted Shrine mystic symbols hanging in the main thoroughfares; the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel were ablaze with tiny lights; the fountain in Parliament Square played its colored waters; the City Hall was outlined in light and everywhere there were scenes of happiness, as befitting the celebration of Victoria's birthday.

Sign language was often used by Indians in hunting, because they could communicate without alarming the game.

Calling All Dogs!

By Albert Payson Terhune

And Now It Is "The Hearing Ear"

You have read much about that splendid enterprise, "The Seeing Eye," which trains dogs to lead the blind. "The Hearing Ear" cannot win such fame or widespread use. Yet it numbers scores of authentic cases. Year by year a few more dogs are trained for it, in private homes. Here is one true instance:

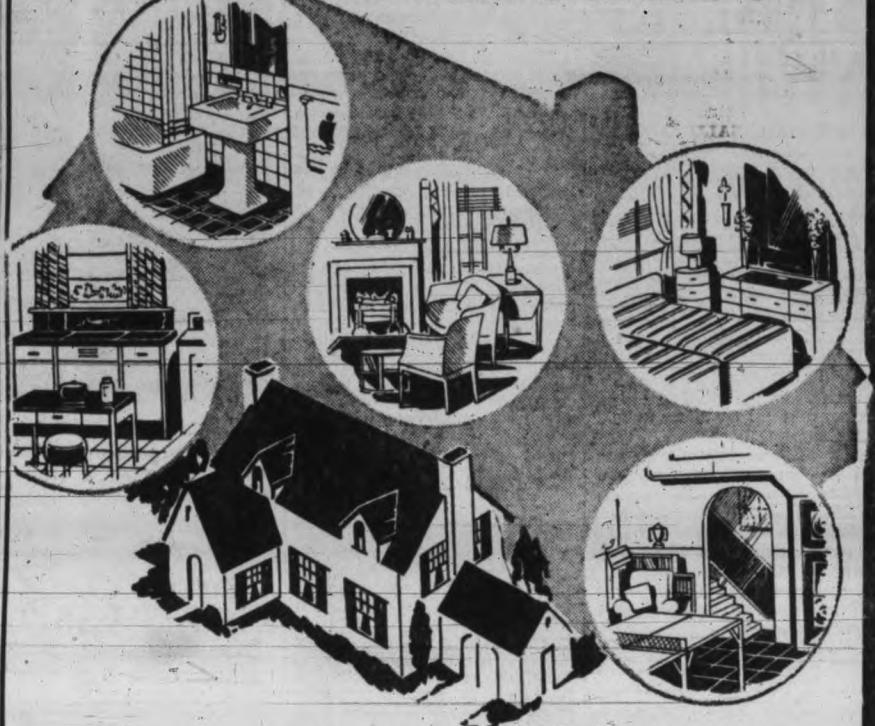

A telephone operator in the west lost her job because of increasing deafness. At her home this deafness became more and more of an embarrassment. She solved the problem to a great extent by the help of her pet water spaniel. A dog's bark, as you

He had a different type of bark for each of these and other emergencies which called for action on the part of his deaf owner. He was as useful as any trained human attendant.

I have known of several similar cases of "The Hearing Ear," in this country, and I have read of still more in Europe. A grand profession for any dog!

Chicago Wins Third Straight From Giants

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

THERE is more to the latest Rogers Hornsby story than his being thrown out again, this time like a sacrifice bunter.

From an unimpeachable source it is learned that Hornsby's next stop will be Cincinnati, where he is to succeed Charley Dresen next spring.

The same authority has Dresen going to New York, where, after a season as coach and chief assistant to Bill Terry, he will become manager of the Giants in 1939.

Being fired by the St. Louis Browns in mid-season certainly is enough to mark the finish of the ordinary manager, but there never was anything commonplace about Hornsby.

The Rajah has more baseball lives than a game has innings.

They wrote his obituary in August, 1932, when, broken by misfortune, he was tossed out by the Chicago Cubs when he least expected to be.

It was that winter that Branch Rickey, whose scalp he once demanded, took Hornsby back into the St. Louis Cardinals fold, and who in 1934 engineered his bow in the American League as manager of the Browns.

A product of this same Cardinal organization, Warren G. Giles, would be sponsoring Hornsby in Cincinnati.

Hornsby's American League ouster in St. Louis was as sudden and mysterious as were his sale to the Giants by the Cardinals, his transfer from the Polo Grounds to Braves' Field, and his not exactly honorable discharge by the Cubs.

Hornsby's iron hand failed to club mediocre talent out of its tracks.

Perhaps the likeable Jim Bottomley and his sunny disposition will fare better. Certainly, Bottomley will humanize the Browns.

Sunny Jim doesn't have to worry, though. Baseball was good to him while he was first basing and helping to bat the Cardinals to four pennants and two world championships. He has a 127-acre farm at Bourbon, Mo., property at Nakomis, Ill., and is worth $100,000. He wanted to retire a year ago, explaining that he didn't want to be a leech.

As for Dresen's transfer to New York, Terry's contract as manager expires next year, and he long has aspired to devote all his time to the front office. He long has had great faith in Dresen's judgment of players and managerial skill.

And Giles, not long removed from the Cardinal chain, like everybody else in it, still regards Hornsby as a managerial genius, particularly in the heat of battle with a club that is headed somewhere. He also respects the Rajah as one of the best players of baseball talent in the business. A graduate of the Cardinal school, he is in favor of strict discipline.

Backed by a superior officer of that type, the cold, unemotional and self-centred Hornsby might make some headway in Cincinnati.

Anyway, he'll continue to stand or fall on his own opinions.

RACES POSTPONED

Rough water, threatening to capsize the boats if any attempt to race were made, was responsible for postponement of the Vancouver Island Outboard Association meet at Mill Bay, which was to have been held for the benefit of the children at the Solarium yesterday.

Rampaging Cubs Move Six Games In First Place

Nose Out New York 5 to 4 in 11 Innings; Cards Get Even Break

Yanks Victors

Hubbell, Dean and Mungo. A few weeks ago each of them could have attracted bids in six figures on the ivory trading market as possessors of baseball's currently greatest "souphones"; today they look as washed up, at least temporarily, as the week's laundry.

Representing half a million dollars or more in pitching arms to the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers, Dizzy Dean, Carl Hubbell and Van Mungo are as sour as a barrel of pickles right now in the National League.

The recent failures of this set of flingers, touted far and wide as the absolute tops and chief point in the argument that the National League has it all over the American League in pitching, was the big talking point of the baseball business today. It overshadowed even the runaway Chicago Cubs, with a six-game lead, are starting to make of the National League chase.

Mungo, ailing since just before the all-star game, hasn't pitched since July 18. Hubbell hasn't won a game since July 18. In his last three starts, he lasted just six innings against the Cubs and three against the Cards, and, on Friday, was belted again by the Cubs.

Dean's dismal doings rate also from the all-star game. A batted drive bounced off one of Dizzy's big toes that day, and the great one is now a well-liked "cousin" to opposition batters. He hasn't won a game since July 4.

BEATEN YESTERDAY

Yesterday, against his perennial pushovers, the Brooklyn Dodgers he lasted only to the sixth and was tagged with a 7-to-3 whipping in a double-header opener. The Cards came back to take the nightcap 7-to-1, behind Lonnie Warneke.

"I'm not right," he wailed afterward. "I shouldn't be pitching. My arm's sore and I can't follow through at all."

Without him and Hubbell, the Cards and Giants don't stand a chance of catching the red-hot Cubs, who made it three straight over the Giants yesterday with a 5-to-4 win in 11 innings.

The New York Yankees pounded the St. Louis Browns, 14-to-5, with Joe DiMaggio hitting homer No. 31 and going out in front of Babe Ruth's 1927 record for the same period.

The Chicago White Sox squeezed out a 4-to-3 and 5-to-3 twin win over Philadelphia, the first going 11 innings. Boston's rip-snorting Red Sox clipped the Detroit Tigers, 11-to-4 in the opener and then batted to a 10-inning 2-to-2 tie in the nightcap, to take third place in the American League.

Bob Feller, "boy wonder" of the Cleveland Indians, turned in his second victory of the year, holding Washington to seven hits in an 11-to-2 victory. He fanned nine.

Pittsburgh's Pirates bested the Boston Bees 8-to-4, and the Phillies split with the Cincinnati Reds, taking the nightcap, 3-to-2, after losing 5-to-1 in the opener.

Climb Further Ahead in League Standings With Victory Over Albions

Batting and bowling in remarkable form, Reg. Wenman and R. Poyntz led Incogs to a decisive victory over Albions in a league match at the University School grounds on Saturday, as the winning team climbed farther ahead of challengers in the Victoria and District Cricket League.

Incogs piled up a total of 107, with Wenman and Poyntz putting on 50 not out and 20 respectively, while the Albions, all told, scored but 71.

Wenman also took six wickets for 16 runs, while Poyntz took four for 19. For the losers, Norm Smith scored 22 not out and took four wickets for 27 runs.

In a friendly match, Five Cs defeated Victoria B by 43 runs, the scores being 141 to 98.

Victoria proved too strong for a team from H.M.S. Exeter in an all day match at Macdonald Park. The city side scored 127 in the first innings and added 98 for two in the second. The ship's eleven scored 106 in their first turn at bat but failed in the second inning, being dismissed for 38.

Smart Wenatchee Catcher

MICKEY DUGGAN

When the Wenatchee Chiefs open a two-game pro baseball series with the Vancouver Maple Leafs at the Athletic Park tomorrow evening at 6, Mickey Duggan, classy receiver for the Chiefs, will be seen in action. Formerly with the Coast League Seattle Indians Duggan's heavy hitting has been responsible for many of Wenatchee's runs. In the second game on Wednesday afternoon play will start at 5. Vancouver is at present in a keen race for second-half honors in the Western International League. Wenatchee won the first half. The player rosters of the two clubs follow: Vancouver, Harriman, Correll, Mountain, Ferraris, Colbern, Velling, Ivy, Samhammer, Smith, Fleming, Cecil, Kumalae, Blasinski, Marlowe, Kerr, and Hauser; Wenatchee, Athey, Williams, Bonetti, McCue, Springer, Krause, Kingsley, Duggan, Weber, Serventi, Brown, Vesel, Coodchild, Newsham, Wright and Tobin.

Somerville Wins National Honors

acual low-scoring golf, it made up with brilliant shots and the closeness of the struggle that brought it all square five times.

OTTAWA (CP)—For the sixth time the mantle of Canada's amateur golf champion rested today upon the shoulders of C. Ross Somerville of the London, Ont., Hunt Club.

Over the Ottawa Hunt Club course Saturday the veteran tournament star, once winner of the United States amateur crown, gathered in the title he relinquished in 1936, by a 2 and 1 victory over Phil Farley, sharpshooting Quebec champion from Montreal.

Somerville won the title in 1926, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1935. Somerville's game Saturday was typical of the London star. Never flustered over his opponent's lead, that went to a two-up advantage for Farley three times in the 36-hole final, Somerville gunned away at par and let Phil do the worrying when the pressure was on.

Farley's game was not so brilliant as he shot throughout the six rounds that carried him into the final. Except for the first two rounds Phil had to battle his way all week in closely fought matches that sent him to the last hole twice, just short of the last green once and on to four extra holes once.

This pace, calling often for sub-par golf under terrific strain, had Saturday's gallery of 800 guessing whether Phil could remain hot under the cold, calculating golf that is always Somerville's.

Against the relentless pressure of Somerville, Farley's earlier sub-par shooting wouldn't click. When Phil traveled the morning outward nine in par 37, Sandy, Phil shot a par 36. So did Sandy.

They went to lunch with Farley one up, largely because of his brilliant performance at the last two holes and a sureness of putting.

They did the first nine of the afternoon in 40's, three over par, in an assortment of good and bad golf, but after the turn when the final pressure came it was Somerville who coolly went to work and shot under par. From the 28th on, Sandy had two birdies and par at the other holes.

Until the final nine of the day Somerville never held a lead of more than one hole, while Farley had a two-up lead three times.

BENNETT WINS TENNIS TITLE

Whips Verne Hughes in Straight Sets to Lift Western Canada Crown

VANCOUVER—All trophies won in the Western Canada lawn tennis championships were being inscribed with Californian names today, after the southerners made a clean sweep of final matches in all major events Saturday.

On the challenge cup, emblematic of the men's singles title, the name of Dick Bennett, Berkeley, will be engraved below that of Los Angeles' Jack Tidball, winner of the crown last year.

Virginia Wolfenden, San Francisco, playing the smart tennis with which all her matches have been marked, won the women's singles when she upset Mrs. Ruby Bixler of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-0. Miss Wolfenden defeated the defending titleholder, Dr. Esther Bartosh, Los Angeles, in a semi-final, Friday.

Miss Wolfenden played her shots to within inches of the sidelines and kept the second-seeded Mrs. Bixler on a continual run.

Bennett's 6-3, 6-0, 11-9 victory over Verne Hughes, Los Angeles, enabled him to complete his sweep of men's singles play without the loss of a single set.

Mrs. Bixler gained a share in a title, pairing with Dr. Bartosh to blast Vancouver's only finalists, Eleanor Young and Caroline Deacop, out of the women's doubles final, 6-3, 6-0.

Hughes attained a measure of revenge over Bennett, when he teamed with his fellow-townsmen, Mort Balogh, to defeat Bennett and Edwin Amark of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, and cop the men's doubles title.

Dr. Bartosh and Balogh won their second titles of the day when they paired, to defeat Hughes and Miss Cecil Miner, Long Beach, 6-3, 6-4, in the mixed event.

All boxla games carded for this week have been postponed, officials of the Victoria Lacrosse Commission announced today.

Deciding Soccer Battle Tonight

Vancouver Johnstons Won 3 to 1 Saturday to Tie Up Canadian Series

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's two top-flight soccer teams, Vancouver Johnston Nationals and Toronto Ulster United, meet at Carruthers Park here tonight in the final game of their best-of-three series for the Dominion championship.

Both teams have chalked up one victory, Ulster winning the first game Thursday night, 3 to 1, and Nationals staging a comeback Saturday afternoon to take the second game, 3 to 1.

Hampered by injuries throughout the series, Ulster welcomed the week-end layoff, and club officials reported the team in better shape than for the previous games.

Another skapeup in the lineups was forecast before the redhandeders take the field in the final battle. The backs have been working well and the half line, while slow, has shown to good effect.

But injuries to forwards have given Manager Bob Murdoch plenty of grey hairs.

Norm Bundy, star outside right, injured in the first game, will not likely play tonight and the problem of filling his position is harassing Ulster officials.

Vancouver will probably retain the same lineup that gave them the win Saturday. Leland Morley, who scored two goals when he moved up from left half to inside right, will be on the forward line again tonight. Angelo Perri, the sub who gave a good account of himself in the second game at Marley's old position, will trot out with the coast team in this third game.

side right, is out for the series with a bad leg, and John Johnson, inside right, will likely stay out on the wing in his namesake's position. He played there in the second game.

Rain threatened in Winnipeg early today and it looked as if the going would be heavy.

Nationals scored their first goal at the 12-minute mark when Captain Jimmy Laurie hoofed a long shot from 40 yards out.

Swede Larson, Vancouver centre forward, tried to head it at the goal mouth, obscuring the Ulster goalie's view, and Laurie's shot landed in the net.

TWO GOALS UP

Twenty minutes later, Morley put Vancouver ahead, 2 to 0, blasting a terrific shot past Harold Seymour in Ulster goal. Ulster backs failed to clear a previous shot and the big inside right sprinted in hard, kicking the goal from 10 yards out.

Ulster rallied a little when they got the wind at their backs and scored after nine minutes of play in the second half when Tommy Axe, inside left, passed to Sam McNabney, outside right, who was uncovered 10 feet from the Vancouver goal mouth.

McNabney gathered in the pass and scored with ease. Jimmy Waters, at the other side of Nationals' net, did not get near it.

Vancouver kept up an offensive despite their one-goal lead, and with Ulster backs playing up too far, Morley broke away alone, near the middle of the second half. He lunged down the centre of the field and shot from inside the penalty zone just as he was checked hard. The ball twisted through Seymour's fingers and popped into the net, making the score 3 to 1.

Victoria Club Ball Victors

In an exhibition game that produced a good brand of ball, the Victoria Baseball Club pulled out with an 8 to 3 victory over the Victoria Indians yesterday afternoon at the Songhees Reservation, Esquimalt.

Two Indian boxla aggregations, Westholme and Victoria, met in the evening, and after an interesting battle finished in an 8 to 8 draw.

Canada's Net Champs Named

Walter Senior and Evelyn Dearman New Singles Titleholders

TORONTO (CP)—Tall, methodical Walter Senior of San Francisco's Golden Gate Club employed a change of pace Saturday to defeat Bobby Murray, Montreal law student, for the Canadian men's singles tennis championship. Faced by a fighter, Senior won in five sets, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

It was the third time in three matches Murray had gone the limit of five sets. He took his gruelling quarter-final with Doug Cameron, Vancouver, and his semi-final with Leonard Hartman, New York, by coming from far behind: Senior had not lost a set in five rounds before meeting Murray.

DEFAULTS FINAL

The Dominion tourney lost considerable lustre when Mary Hardwick of the touring British Wightman Cup team defaulted the women's singles final to her teammate, Evelyn Dearman.

With petite Joan Ingram, Miss Dearman won the women's doubles title over two other cup team members, Miss Hardwick and Margot Lumb, 6-1, 7-5. She joined Laird Watt of Montreal in beating Miss Ingram and Billy Reese of Atlanta, Ga., for the mixed doubles crown, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

The 200-pound veterans, Walter Martin of Toronto and Regina, and David M. Jones of New York, sprang the tournament's biggest surprise by winning the men's doubles. Astonishing the gallery by beating Ross Wilson and Grant McLean of Toronto in three straight sets Friday, they whipped Bobby Murray and Laird Watt in the final, 8-6, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3.

PRESENTS PRIZES

Tommy W. McPherson, first vice-president of the association, presented the prizes in the evening at the Anchorage, the wind-up attracting a record gathering of spectators. Following the prize distribution, President Frank Moore awarded those anglers who caught button fish during the month of July their emblems.

The bronze button winners were: Tommy Dickinson, 20 lbs.; Mrs. F. Tait, 22 lbs.; H. D. Cummings, 27 lbs.; Ernie Silburn, 26 1/2 lbs.; M. Lumley, 22 lbs.; Bill Scott, 28 1/2 lbs.; W. B. Dempster, 29 lbs.; Mrs. C. Hardy, 26 lbs. The silver button went to M. Ball with a 31 1/2-pounder.

EXETER WINS

H.M.S. Exeter's water polo team scored a 5 to 3 win over a select Victoria team Saturday at the Crystal Garden. The visiting navy men handled the ball better and displayed superior teamwork. It is expected a return match will be arranged.

GORGE VALE WINS MATCH

Defeats Colwood, 19 1/2 to 12 1/2 in Interclub Golf On Latter's Links

In an interclub golf match played at the Colwood Club yesterday, visiting Gorge Vale players marked up a 19 1/2 to 12 1/2 victory.

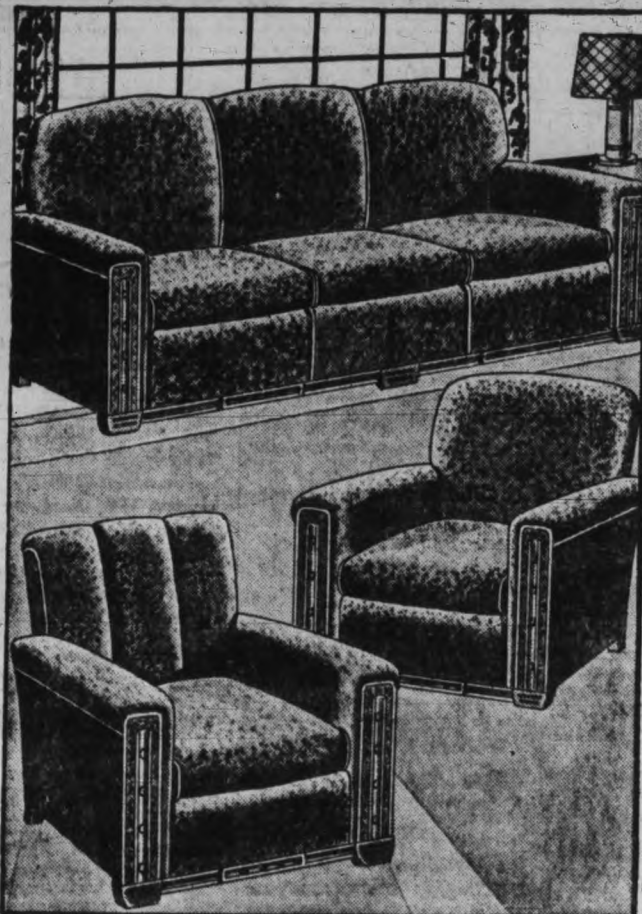

The Gorge team won the singles 9 1/2 to 6 1/2 and the four-ball matches 10 to 6.

In the leading fourball engagement Harold Pretty and Freddie Painter, Gorge, defeated Rowan MacKenzie and A. W. McIntyre. Pretty and Painter also won their singles.

Y SECRETARY RETURNS HOME

Expressing satisfaction on the success of his trip south where he went as far as San Francisco, Frank Paulding, general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., arrived home yesterday after a month's absence.

Mr. Paulding attended the week's session of Pacific north-west Y.M.C.A. in San Francisco. On the home trip he attended the community chest conference at Lummi Island, near Bellingham, where he gathered some useful information which he said would be of great benefit to the local community chest when it is organized here in October. One of the main points discussed was the relationship between community chests and specific social agencies.

Floyd James, an Indian, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of being in possession of an intoxicant.

The meeting scheduled for Wednesday night of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council has been postponed until a later date. It has been called off due to Wednesday being a holiday.

Although it is midsummer, a number of inquiries are being received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from persons, chiefly in eastern Canada, who are considering spending the winter here.

The appointment of Dr. J. C. Poole of Fraser Lake as medical health officer and school health officer for the district was announced at the Legislative Buildings today. He replaces Dr. W. C. Pitts, who has moved to Victoria.

Third Avenue, Port Alberni, has been classified as a secondary highway by the provincial government. Under this arrangement the road will be surfaced with the costs split evenly between the government and Port Alberni.

By order-in-council today the British Columbia government vested in the Provincial Secretary the authority to order release of criminally insane persons when their terms of imprisonment expire while they are in a provincial mental hospital. Formerly this was subject to cabinet order.

The largest naval contingent to participate in a parade here will march Wednesday afternoon in the anniversary event arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. H.M.S. Exeter will land four seaman platoons, a Royal Marine platoon and the Royal Marine band, and 200 members of the Canadian naval forces will also join the parade.

Magistrate Henry Hall returned to his duties in the City Police Court this morning after a motor tour down the Pacific Coast. Accompanied by Mrs. Hall, the magistrate returned by way of Vancouver and crossed over to Vancouver Island, concluding his holiday at Comox. While on the mainland he paid an inspectional visit to the Boys' Industrial School.

When he pleaded guilty in the Provincial Police Court this morning to a charge of being intoxicated while in control of a car, Bishan Singh, a Hindu, was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment. Theft of a quantity of candy and some bottles of sauce and canned goods, the latter being later recovered, was reported by Stevenson's Candy Store, Yates Street, to city police yesterday. The sauce and canned goods were found in a lot between Yates and View Streets.

According to W. A. Thorn of the meteorological observatory at Gonzales, the blaze of light across the sky yesterday evening about 10.30, believed by many to be the northern lights, was the searchlights from a ship in the straits. Mr. Thorn said the position of the lights across the sky was contrary to the position of the northern lights. The reason they were so bright was due to the large amount of water vapor in the atmosphere.

Dr. R. M. Petrie of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory will take as his subject "What Is a Star?" at the third meeting in the series of summer astronomy classes, this evening at 8.15 o'clock at Victoria College. Expect To Start Health Plan Slowly

Cabinet Sub-committee Will Discuss Plans This Week For Legislature

Establishment of health insurance in single industrial areas on a trial basis now appears as the likely solution to British Columbia's problem of dealing with the proposal.

This week, it is expected, a special sub-committee of the provincial cabinet, consisting of Hon. John Hart, Hon. George M. Weir and Hon. George S. Pearson, will meet to draft plans for the government to present to the Legislature in October.

First decision for the committee will be whether the Health Insurance Act, passed in the spring of last year, should be scrapped in favor of a new plan, or whether it can be used in modified form. While the present act will form the basis on which to work, it is generally believed a new scheme entirely will be drafted.

Since the plebiscite called for a "progressively applied" system of health insurance, it is regarded as certain that a plan for one industrial area will be devised as a start. Dr. Weir, sponsor of the original plan, is now said to favor this idea. In the first draft bill on health insurance provision was made for applying it gradually in this way. When it was soundly established in one area, other parts of the province could be brought into the scheme until it became general.

Another suggestion is that benefits, instead of going to a man's wife and children, should be limited to himself and the contributions reduced accordingly. The existing health act calls for 2 per cent from a wage-earner and 1 per cent from his employer.

No attempt will be made, it is understood, to go ahead with the present health plan which was blocked by refusal of the doctors to accept it. Members of the sub-committee are reported as agreed that changes must be made. In any event, health insurance will not start until next year at the earliest.

The health insurance commission continues to mark time meanwhile, as it has done since the scheme was held up in February. The staff has been further reduced within the last month to a few who are keeping the offices open. Mrs. A. O. Robinson, acting secretary, finished her duties on Saturday and her place will not be filled immediately.

Members of the commission are Allan Peebles, chairman; Dr. W. T. Barrett, vice-chairman; Percy Bengough and John Dunsmauir. For the moment no changes in personnel are planned, but this may be discussed later.

Five Former Mayors Give Reminiscences

Speakers at City Jubilee Banquet Note Milestone of Progress

Five former mayors of Victoria spoke at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon marking the 75th anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Victoria this afternoon and recalled interesting steps in the progress of the city during their terms of office.

Mayor McGavin extended thanks to all. He knew on such occasions that the present mayor should not be asked to say anything and therefore he asked to be allowed to sit down and hear what former mayors had to say.

Senator G. H. Barnard, mayor of Victoria from 1904 to 1905, said he felt like any mayor that his term in office was the most important. The city finished the Point Ellice Bridge, the first steel bridge ever built in Victoria, while he was in office. The major work during his term was the building and finishing of the retaining wall at James Bay and the agreement with C.P.R. to build the Empress Hotel.

Sanitary conditions outside the small area of the city at that time were terrible, Senator Barnard said. Three cases of typhoid in his own family made him enter the City Council. By means of taxation he was able to extend the sewer system. The first permanent sidewalks were built down Yates Street.

Ex-mayor Barnard gave credit to Ex-mayor Hayward for building of the retaining wall. The harbor was dredged and the mud thrown over the wall. Owing to the amount of water in the mud, drainage of the flats was difficult.

The boat landing was built to prevent the wall from bulging due to the terrific pressure of the mud and water, he said.

START OF PROSPERITY

The ex-mayor felt the start of prosperity in Victoria was the Empress Hotel. The original contract called for $300,000—and millions had been spent.

Alex Stewart, who was mayor for 1914 and 1915, said that his relations with the Council were of the best. He asked for confidence and he received it. He thought that the mayor had too many jobs. One job he never liked was making a speech.

BALANCED BUDGET

Reginald Hayward, who was mayor from 1923 to 1924, said that the difficulty he had as mayor was to balance the budget. The treasurer said it could not be done. After his first year he had a balance of $50,000, and the second year, $150,000 and it would have grown, had not he been promoted to the Legislature.

He was co-ordinating officer for the whole Pacific Coast when the British fleet was here. He also had the privilege of entertaining the Prince of Wales. His father, he said, entertained King George V.

Herbert Anscomb, who was mayor from 1929 to 1931, said that he faced a condition which no other mayor had faced before, and he hoped that no other mayor would have to face again—unemployment. He said that unemployment would be a cancer on body politics of Canada forever.

During the last few years there was improvement and, after traveling across Canada and seeing the prairies, the citizen could say "Thank God we live in Victoria."

David Leeming, who was mayor from 1933 to 1936, spoke of the value of the tourist trade, and he was not satisfied with the support of business men and merchants. The tourist trade was worth $5,000,000.

The office of mayor had given him an experience which he would never have missed.

He declared that taxes here were low. The assessment of land now was less than in 1909. He was convinced that the tourist trade could be doubled in five years.

Before introducing the speakers Harold Husband, president of the chamber, paid tribute to past and present mayors and councilors who had guided Victoria as it had changed from a stockaded outpost to a premier city on the Pacific coast.

He saluted the pioneers of the city and extended felicitations to the small band who were left.

He remembered Victoria's motto, Semper Liber, always free, which he felt meant today solvent and prosperous. He looked toward the future and saw great things in store for a city in the greatest trade area of the world—the Pacific coast.

Expressions of regret were received from ex-Mayors J. Carl Pendray and A. J. Morley, who were unable to attend the luncheon.

Duncan McBride thanked the speakers. During the meeting George I. Warren, secretary, read extracts from the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce of March 6, 1965.

Will Broadcast City's History

A narrative history of the growth of Victoria, interspersed with interviews with old-timers, will be given by Ted Fox of the Times staff during the broadcast of Victoria's anniversary dinner this evening from 7 to 7.30.

The programme, arranged by the special events department of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will be broadcast over the national network, including stations CROC and CFCT. A talk by Mayor McGavin will follow opening selections by the band of H.M.S. Exeter. The Arion Club male choir will sing, and Billy Tickle's orchestra will play at the end of the programme.

Bill Herbert, formerly of Victoria, will supervise the broadcast from the Empress Hotel ballroom.

The city on Saturday played hosts to the complement of the Eagle Boat 57 at a stag dinner in the Empress Hotel, where representatives from H.M.S. Exeter and the Royal Canadian Navy mingled with the United States men. Representing the city were Aldermen W. Lloyd Morgan, James Adam, T. W. Hawkins, Ed. Williams and Stanley Okell.

Great Chinese Army Masses To Move On Japanese In North

Japanese Drive South on Railway

SHANGHAI (CP-Havas)—The Central (Chinese) news agency reported early Tuesday that Gen. Sung Chieh-yuan, defeated head of the Chinese 29th Army, was preparing a full-scale counter-attack against the Japanese from Paoting, southwest of Peiping, where 200,000 Central government troops are concentrating.

NANKING (AP)—Official Chinese dispatches reported early Tuesday six Japanese airplanes had bombed Chinese troop positions at Nankou Pass, northwest of Peiping.

After the bombardment, the dispatches said, an additional force of 10 planes strafed the Chinese units. Japanese infantry and cavalry were reported repulsed in an assault on the pass.

JAPANESE CLOSE GATES

PEIPING (AP)—Japanese, in control of China's ancient dragon capital, closed the gates of Peiping Monday, virtually imprisoning foreigners within the walls as squadrons of Japanese planes blasted a path for a thrust deep into China.

Japanese authorities said their planes had been bombing Chinese army concentrations at Paoting, capital of Hopei province, 85 miles to the southwest, for the last 24 hours. Japanese scouting planes were ranging as far south as Tsinan in Shantung province, some 175 miles below Tientsin.

Although Japanese asserted the area around Peiping was quiet they erected heavy fortifications at both the east and south gates of the city. A United States army officer and missionary were halted at the east gate and refused permission to set out on a mission of mercy to Tung-chow.

ALONG RAILWAY

The Japanese army, heavily reinforced, was penetrating rapidly to the south along the strategic railway to Hankow, main artery of the reported advance of 50,000 central government troops commanded by General Chen Cheng.

But the celestial show was not for the savants alone. With the naked eye, Prof. George A. Van Biesbroeck of Yerkes Observatory said, amateur astronomers might now see the comet as "a medium-sized star" tearing through space. And up on the rooftops, where

Gain Is Noted in Both Prepaid Taxes and Arrears Over 1936

A gain of $11,832.46 in prepaid taxes for the first seven months of this year, over the same period of 1936, was noted in a report made to Mayor Gavin this morning by George Okell, city assessor and collector of taxes.

Prepaid taxes for the first seven months of 1936 amounted to $663,141.24. In the same period of 1937 prepaid taxes reached a total of $674,973.70.

The collector's report to the mayor also shows an increase in the arrears collected this year of $9,364.63.

Arrears collected from January 1 to July 31, 1936, were $127,518.69, compared to $137,283.32 for the same period of 1937.

Neutrality Steps Taken By Canada

Orders Ban Canadians Enlisting For Spain; Check On Munitions

OTTAWA (CP)—Uncertainty as to the working of the Spanish non-intervention agreement has led Canada to take its own measures to safeguard its neutrality.

Orders-in-council just made public ban enlistment of Canadians in Spain, prohibit export of munitions to that country and forbid exports of munitions to any other country without permit. The orders, announced by the external affairs department, became effective Saturday.

Volunteering with either side in the Spanish civil war is made unlawful under the Foreign Enlistment Act and the other two orders are based on amendments to the Customs Act. Legislation on which the orders were based was passed at the last session of Parliament.

Ancient Bridge in North China War Area

Latest reports, telling how Japanese troops are in full control of Peiping, indicate other forces are moving southward toward where Nanking government troops are massing near the southern border of Hopei province. The old Marco Polo Bridge over the Yunting River a few miles southwest of Peiping, was recently a scene of fighting, but the Japanese are reported in command of affairs there now. The above picture gives an impression of the marble structure, with its intricate Chinese stonework. A camel train was crossing it when the photograph was taken.

EIGHTEEN HURT IN TRAIN CRASH

But Only One, Negro, Seriously Injured in Oregon Accident

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP)—Eighteen persons were injured when two diners and four pullmans of a special 11-car train bound from California to Portland, Ore., with 140 passengers, jumped the main line Southern Pacific tracks near Yamsay, about 70 miles north of here, at 7.15 this morning.

Only one person, a negro porter, was reported seriously hurt. Boiling water from a container in one of the dining coaches spilled over him as the cars went teetering crazily along the road bed.

J. C. Leonard of the nearby Pelican Bay lumber camp said the accident ripped up nearly 300 feet of track. The cars did not tip over and damage was limited chiefly to broken windows. Observers gave a broken rail as the reason for the derailment.

Railroad officials said the accident could have occurred as the train passed a switch and a wheel flange broke. Names of the injured could not be learned here.

J. A. Ormandy, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific system said ambulances had been rushed from here to the wreck scene, which is in the Cascade Mountains.

A relief train with 30 men and equipment was rushed to the scene from Eugene, Ore.

NINE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Italian Machine Wrecked at Wadi Halfa Field in Anglo-Egyptian Sudan

WADI HAIFA, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—Nine passengers and members of the crew of a southbound Italian commercial plane were killed today when the plane crashed near the Wadi Halfa airfield.

The crew of five and the four passengers were believed all to be Italians.

Witnesses said that when the plane was about to land the pilot speeded up the engine, apparently deciding he could not make a safe landing at the moment.

The machine touched earth and then "bounced about 90 feet in the air," a spectator declared. One engine caught fire as the plane fell to destruction.

SUICIDE NOTE FOUND ON PIER

Letter Signed "Rose Wells" in Seattle Clears Other Woman Convicted

SEATTLE (AP)—A suicide note asking United States Superior Judge Fred G. Remann of Tacoma to clear an innocent woman of charges on which she was convicted 12 years ago, was found beside a woman's faded beret at Pier 2, Detective Captain Marshall Scraftford said today.

The note was signed "Rose Wells," and said she was guilty of the $96 cheque forgery for which Mrs. Anne Simmons of Puyallup Valley, Wash., was found guilty on a grand larceny charge and given a two-year suspended sentence by Judge Remann.

With the letter to Remann was a note to Mrs. Simmons, Scraftford said. They were dated "June 1, 1936, Seattle, Washington, D.C." "I am ending my life. I hope whoever finds my hat will send these letters to clear this poor woman for all my bad doings. God bless you, Mrs. Simmons. I hope you forgive me. Pray for me in the other world. Rose," the note said in part.

Holiday Traffic Great in Britain

People Flock From London to Seaside Resorts; Roads Crowded

LONDON (CP)—The August bank holiday—the last in England before Christmas—today found London silent and country and seaside resorts packed tight.

A whole week-end of fine weather started off tens of thousands of "trippers" who were beginning their vacations. Twenty-three thousand cars left London each hour Sunday morning and the procession continued today in only slightly reduced strength.

It wasn't society people who jammed up the Portsmouth Road with a 10-mile stream of cars, who overflowed accommodation in such spots as Bournemouth, Brighton and Margate. It was city workers, intent on getting the most out of the holiday week-end opportunity for sunshine and exercise.

Rail traffic over the week-end was believed to have been the heaviest in recent years, 3,000,000 persons passing through London railway termini in 40 hours.

Three Doukhobors Hunted After Fires

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Three men in a truck, seen speeding from a flaming building, were sought today by authorities investigating an outbreak of apparently incendiary fires which destroyed a railway station and three barns Saturday night.

The truck was seen as a barn on the farm of Jim Posnikoff in the predominately Doukhobor-settled Slokan valley, 100 miles northeast of here burst into flame. Two other barns in the district settled thickly by members of the Russian religious sect were destroyed and abortive attempts were made to fire two other buildings.

The barn fires, occurring almost simultaneously with a blaze which destroyed the Great Northern Railway station here, were ascribed to Doukhobor incendiaries by Inspector John Macdonald of the British Columbia police here.

"There has been considerable friction between the Sons of Freedom and Named Doukhobors and the Community members, and these barn fires, we are convinced, are the result of this friction," Inspector Macdonald said at nearby Nelson.

Ian MacKenzie, Minister of National Defence, and Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, and former holder of Mr. Mackenzie's portfolio. Speakers will include Sir Percy Lake, Victoria.

Press Links Are Being Restored

ROME (AP)—Italian newspaper correspondents withdrawn from London before the Coronation started back to England today to resume work. They were called home because of British press comments on the defeat of Italian volunteers serving with the Spanish insurgent forces.

Aboard Coastguard Cutter Argo, off Newport, R.I. (AP)—Overtaking her rival within an hour of the start, Harold S. Vanderbilt's snub-nosed, white-hulled sloop Ranger today scored her second successive triumph over the sixteenth British challenger for the America's Cup, T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour II. Ranger rounded the final marker of the 30-mile triangular course with more than two and one-half miles to spare, and won as easily as in Saturday's inaugural.

Ranger crossed the finish line at 3.21.33 p.m., E.S.T., unofficially, with Endeavour trailing so far behind that she had been deserted by the spectator fleet.

When Ranger turned the second mark at 2.27.19 p.m., E.S.T., Endeavour was nearly two miles astern. It was plain then the defender was headed for as hollow a triumph as she scored in the opening race two days ago. The final 10-mile leg to the finish line was a broad reach on a course north by west one-half west.

As the defender was acclaimed by the horns and whistles of the accompanying spectator craft, the challenger appeared to be about three miles astern. The breeze had increased to about 12 miles.

Ranger's official finishing time was 3.21.33 p.m., E.S.T. Endeavour crossed the line at 3.40.05 p.m., E.S.T.

The record for a 30-mile triangular course, three hours, nine minutes, one second, was set by Sopwith's first challenger, Endeavour I, in her second victory over Rainbow, also skipped by Vanderbilt, September 18, 1934. Ranger, crossing the starting line today a second after the signal was hoisted at 8.40 a.m., sailed the distance in three hours 41 minutes 32 seconds.

NO RACE TOMORROW

As Endeavour finished Sopwith spoke to the committee boat, which then broke out code flags indicating there would be no race tomorrow.

The race committee said Sopwith had asked for a one-day postponement, to which he is entitled under the cup racing rules and which was granted, although the reason was not stated.

WILL MAKE CHANGES
It was assumed the Briton wished to make changes in the blue-hulled sloop for which he held such high hopes of regaining the international yachting trophy for the first time since the schooner America took the cup in 1851.

Endeavour, despite the fact she finished 19 minutes 32 seconds behind the defender, was cheered as lustily as her conqueror, whose victory brought the standing to 43 races won by the United States against five won by the British challengers. Each of the 15 previous matches has been won by the United States entry.

years in jail and fines up to $2,000 for those who enlist with foreign armed forces in a conflict where this country is not involved. It supplanted the British Foreign Enlistment Act, which was not broad enough to include civil disturbances such as that in Spain.

The order-in-council makes the provisions of the act applicable to Spain. Accordingly it is unlawful for any Canadian national to enlist with either party in that conflict. Recruiting is similarly banned and penalties provided.

The amendment to the Customs Act requires persons exporting or carrying war materials to obtain a permit, pay fees and comply with regulations. It also gives the governor-in-council power to prohibit, restrict or control export to any destination or carrying on of coastwise or internal trade in war materials or their importation.

Under the order made public at the week-end, no person may export from Canada to any destination arms or munitions set forth in a long list embracing practically all kinds of arms and military equipment of all kinds, including aircraft and poison gases, without first having obtained a permit from the National Revenue Department.

Applications for permits are required to furnish, in respect of each shipment for export, information in writing setting forth details as to the seller, purchaser, consignee, consignor, description, quantity, value and specific purpose.

The other order prohibits the export of arms, war material, aircraft, aircraft engines or munitions to Spain or Spanish territory, directly or indirectly.

Infractions of the provision against export of arms are punishable under the Customs Act to fines as high as $1,000 and imprisonment up to four years. In addition the goods would be confiscated.

The External Affairs Department said: "Under the non-intervention agreement, to which nearly all European states are parties, a system of control over the entry of munitions or recruits into Spain has been in effect for some time."

"Uncertainty as to the future working of that agreement has now made it desirable for Canada to put into force its own measures, as contemplated by the legislation of last session, for the observance of a non-intervention policy."

The Arion Male Chorus will be heard prior to a historical narration on Victoria by Edward F. Fox. Interspersed in the narration will be short interviews of old-timers by W. J. Herbert of the special events and public features department of the CBC.

The Arion Club choir will break into the stirring strains of "John Peel" at the conclusion of the interviews and R. P. Eutchart, freeman of the city will speak briefly before Wm. Tickle's orchestra draws the broadcast to a close with a musical selection.

In the ensuing entertainment a programme of graceful, old-time dances, including the polka, classical ballet, character song and dance, numbers performed by ladies in crinolines, the minuet, the gavotte, old-fashioned song with a dancing chorus and the lancers and quadrilles, will be rendered by members of Dorothy Wilson's Russian Ballet School. Classical selections and songs popular in years gone by will be presented in the musical section of the entertainment by such well known artists as Mrs. Florence Gunn, Maquinn Daniels, Dudley Wickert, Phyllis Deaville, Ethel Stibberts, Catherine Denison, Jack Townsend and Frank Sehl.

Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Eli: Dumbleton will assist Miss Daniels as accompanist.

Soviet Weapons For Chinese Reported

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The newspaper Yomiuri Sunday declared that negotiations were going on for the conclusion of a secret treaty between China and Soviet Russia for the supply of Soviet arms to China. The Chinese central government, said the Yomiuri, had refrained from accepting Soviet aid until now for fear of displeasing Great Britain.

Seattle Police Arrest Reporters

Leads to Charges of Disorderly Conduct

SEATTLE (AP)—Police arrested 19 American Newspaper Guild men and women today in dispersing a picket line of about 50 persons which blocked entrances to The Seattle Star plant, where a Guild strike has been in progress since early in July.

Two pickets, bearing strike signs, were permitted to remain in front of the plant, which has been publishing after a four-day shutdown ended early last month when police dispersed a similar picket line.

Capt. J. J. Haag, who directed the prisoners be booked for disorderly conduct, said they were not legal pickets. They included Jack Heise, reporter-photographer and chairman of the Star Guild unit.

The strikers reiterated they were ready to return to work in a body, but the management said it desired to leave the entire matter to the United States National Labor Relations Board, to which the Guild originally complained, and which ended a hearing of "unfair labor practices" charges against The Star last week. The board has the charges under advisement.

Airplane Show At Vancouver

Formation and Stunt Flying
Thrills Thousands at Sea Island

VANCOUVER—Vancouver went "air-minded" Saturday when thousands of spectators flocked to the Sea Island airport and witnessed the Western Canada Airshow held under the sponsorship of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade.

Scores of planes, from the smallest type of single-seater to giant skyliners of the trans-Canada and United air lines, dotted the sky above the airport as the show started. A squadron of navy fighters came from the Sand Point station at Seattle.

The show was not without its breathless moments as Ted Rankin of Hollywood, world champion stunt flier, put his ship through its paces and a Vancouver parachute jumper, Cecil McKenzie, made a bat wing jump. McKenize was unable to get his wings inside the plane from which he was to jump, so they had one door of the plane taken off.

The parachutist went aloft sitting on the floor of the cabin with his feet outside and his "wings" plastered along the side of the ship.

McKenize "baled out" at 8,000 feet, but spun around and around, unable to get control of himself with his "wings," strapped to his arms. At 1,000 he was forced to open his parachute and he landed safely.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier (AP)—Insurgent artillery opened a bombardment of Madrid's outer defences today after driving a spearhead into Spanish government lines west of the capital.

Gen. Franco's troops pressed hard against government defences in eastern and southern Spain. On the northwestern front, insurgents reported they had defeated an attempt to break their lines east of Oviedo, in Asturias province.

Three Men Are Facing Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charged with manslaughter in the fatal gassing of two little girls last June, three Vancouver men will appear before Police Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson here next Friday.

The men are P. W. McLeod, fumigating contractor; S. P. Heasman, city assistant quarantine inspector, and P. J. Brennan, watchman.

Two three-year-old girls, Kathleen Boyce and Joan Brewer, died from hydrocyanic poisoning when they wandered into an apartment while it was being fumigated. A third girl was rescued.

and Vanderbilt currently is engaged in his third defence of the "old mug."

Endeavour rounded the second mark at 2:43.36 p.m., E.S.T., 76 minutes 18 second behind Ranger. Ranger had hit a 10-knot pace coming down the second leg. Vanderbilt kept the same canvas set for the final leg—a staysail inside her quadrilateral, or Greta Garbo, jib.

Ranger rounded the first mark, 10 miles from the start, at 1:26 p.m., E.S.T., with the British craft more than a mile astern.

Endeavour rounded the first mark at 1:36 p.m., E.S.T. From the first to the second buoy was a 10-mile broad reach east to south.

HAZY DAY
When the spectator fleet, much reduced in size from that which followed the opening race on Saturday, moved out of Newport harbor this morning it moved in a sun-drenched haze.

The rival sloops hit the starting line at approximately 11:40 a.m., on close to even terms a second behind the starting signal. Vanderbilt came about on the starboard tack two minutes after the getaway.

They were separated by about 300 yards and it was difficult at first to indicate whether either had benefited by their opposite starting tacks.

Endeavour took the lead shortly after the start, although Ranger was slightly to the weather side. The British yacht footed faster on the starboard tack and the defender lost some time coming about after crossing the line on the port tack.

Despite the lightness of the breeze, the contestants were making about seven knots in a smooth sea. Their tall pinnales of canvas moved ghost-like through the haze that had hung over the ocean all morning.

Sopwith switched to the port tack at 12:17 a.m., E.S.T. Vanderbilt remained on the starboard tack, thereby saving the right-of-way. The first critical tress drew close as the rivals neared each other.

Endeavour had established a lead of two or three boat lengths at 1:29 p.m. Ranger went over on the port tack as the sloops were converging on opposite tacks, indicating clearly the challenger would have crossed the defender's bow.

WORKED THROUGH LEE
Endeavour's lead was of short duration, and when she returned to the starboard tack at 1:35, E.S.T., Ranger had taken command. The American sloop had worked through the challenger's lee, outfooting and outpointing her.

Sopwith held to the starboard tack only five minutes before returning to the port and taking up the stern chase of Ranger, which was drawing away steadily. The extra tacks were costly to the challenger, although the crew was handling the sails smartly.

At 1 p.m., E.S.T., Ranger led about three-quarters of a mile and was increasing the margin steadily.

Ranger went through Endeavour's lee, then began working to windward until the challenger found herself in disturbed air and was compelled to tack away.

When she returned to the chase, Ranger was far ahead. Although not pointing as high on the wind as Ranger, the challenger seemed to be pinched and her staysail fluttered frequently.

Divorce Suit Ended By Death

Mrs. L. P. Player Hangs
Herself in San Francisco
As Hearing Nears

SAN FRANCISCO—The contested divorce case of wealthy Dr. Lionel Player and his wife, Emily, which has stirred San Francisco society for months, was ended today with the death of Mrs. Player. The coroner's office reported she had hanged herself.

The body was found yesterday by a maid, Bertha Kochan, who told authorities she thought her mistress had hidden in the Player mansion basement to say "boo" at her.

Deputy Coroner M. J. Brown, describing the case as a suicide, made public a farewell note which he said Mrs. Player had left for her husband.

"I love you too much," read the note.

The divorce suit of Dr. Player, San Francisco physician, and his wife's cross-complaint were set for hearing in the United States superior court today. Dr. Player charged cruelty, and his wife alleged infidelity.

TEXTILE MILLS' STAFFS STRIKE

Only One Plant of Dominion
Operating

MONTREAL (CP)—A month-old threat to tie up the textile industry in the province of Quebec in an effort to gain the right of collective bargaining, higher wages and shorter hours materialized partially today when workers, estimated as high as 10,000, refused to enter nine plants.

The strike call sent out by the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers was answered by employees of Dominion Textiles Ltd. and a subsidiary, Montreal Cottons. Federation spokesmen saying they were prepared to remain idle for a month at least, said it was "only a beginning."

All employees of other textile plants, they said, would join the strike movement if the companies refused to grant the demands.

G. Blair Gordon, general manager of Dominion Textiles Ltd., who returned last week from a trip to Europe, said that "as far as we are concerned there is nothing to negotiate."

Gordon, a son of Sir Charles Gordon, said the company was willing to submit the case to the newly-appointed Fair Wage Board when it comes into being September 1.

NO DISCUSSION
Doubt was expressed as to the possibility of company heads meeting union spokesmen.

Duce Writes To Chamberlain

ROME (AP)—Premier Mussolini has assured Prime Minister Chamberlain of his friendship in a personally-signed letter, it was announced officially today.

The letter was presented to Mr. Chamberlain by Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to Great Britain.

Disclosure of Mussolini's letter followed upon announcement of a letter which Mr. Chamberlain had sent to Il Duce last Saturday. That letter was interpreted by persons close to the British government as an effort by the British Premier to improve Italian-British relations.

SHIPS COLLIDE AT PIRAEUS

Ten Bodies Recovered at Greek Port; Number of Persons Missing

ATHENS (AP)—Ten bodies were recovered and many of the 64 passengers and crew of the auxiliary motor vessel Anastasis were missing today after the boat had been cut in two in a collision with the steamer Hydra.

The Anastasis was carrying a holiday crowd. The collision occurred in the outer harbor of Piraeus.

While not naming any suspect, Corp. J. W. Hooker of the Grand Forks Provincial Police division said of the Great Northern station fire:

"I'm almost positive it was incendiary."

SECOND ATTEMPT
Police recalled a previous unsuccessful attempt to fire the small frame station here within the last 12 months in pointing to incendiarism as a probable cause of the blaze. The little building, combining a waiting room and freight shed, was valued tentatively at less than $500.

Coal oil flared in the kitchen of Nick Arishenkoff's home at Grand Forks while 20 occupants of the building were asleep Saturday, but Arishenkoff arrived home to check the blaze before any damage was done.

At Sloan Park, a largely Doukhobor settlement, Nick Poochachoff saved his barn and contents after a fire in the building had been discovered before it could gain headway. It was extinguished.

The barn on the farm of Pepe Poochachoff nearby was destroyed. The barn on the farm of Alex Posenikoff at Shoreacres, as well as that of Jim Posenikoff, between Ferry Siding and Appleton, was razed.

Police said there was nothing at the scene of any of the fires to point to the incendiarism, and based their hopes of arrests on identification of the three men seen fleeing from Posenikoff's farm.

Reinforcements for some 25,000 Japanese troops mopping up in the area were being poured into north China both through the Great Wall passes to the north and by rail from Shan-haikwan on the Manchukuo border to the east.

Troop movements completely disrupted all normal rail service throughout Hopeh province. Schedules were almost inoperative north of the border of Shan-tung province.

MANY CHINESE PLANES
Tientsin, Japanese army headquarters 60 miles southeast of Peiping, was quiet but tense. The Japanese tightened their grip on the city as a result of reports that Chinese airplanes in great numbers had been scouting the Tientsin area.

The Soviet consulate-general at Tientsin was invaded and wrecked by white Russians. Soviet sources charged Japanese plain clothes operatives aided in the raid during which many of the consular records were carried off. Japanese denied they had participated.

The Russian report said that the raiders, armed with rifles and machine guns, broke down the consulate's doors while Japanese troops halted traffic in the vicinity.

TOKIO (AP)—After an urgent conference with Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono, Emperor Hirohito Monday approved sweeping changes in the Japanese army in what was believed was preparation for extended warfare with China.

Four new divisional commanders and a new commander of the former Chinese island of Formosa were named. All except one have had extensive experience in China, indicating the four divisions may be preparing for embarkation to the north China war zone.

Li-Gen, Waichiro Sonobe, called the "devil general" by the Chinese because of his exploits in Manchukuo, was named to command the 7th Division; Lt. Gen. Kesago Nakajima was given the 16th Division; Lt. Gen. Susumu Fujita the 3rd Division; Lt. Gen. Marquis Toshiaki Maeda the 8th Division and Lt. Gen. Moto Furusho was made commander of the Formosan garrison. Gen. Maeda, the wealthiest officer in the army, is the only one inexperienced in China fighting.

The army changes involved 2,500 promotions and 3,400 transfers. Only 50 officers were placed on the retirement list in view of the serious north China situation.

CHINESE ARMY 250,000

Japan was disclosed to have already moved five army divisions to Hopeh province to meet what it declares is the threat of 250,000 troops mobilized by China.

Japanese nationals were being evacuated from China.

Officials indicated the empire was preparing for a prolonged conflict as efforts were made to push through a 406,000,000-yen (about $155,000,000) appropriation for operations in north China.

The Chinese, defeated in the brisk fighting for north China, were thought to be retreating to the southern boundary of Hopeh province, where the "front" was expected to be established along the Yellow River.

Official Foreign Office dispatches today asserted 290 Japanese and Koreans, including women and children, were slain by Chinese gendarmes in Friday's mutiny at Tungchow, seat of the independent Hopeh regime 12 miles east of Peiping.

When the troops, long used by Japan as the wedge of her influence in north China, rebelled and captured the Japanese residents, they stood their captives against a wall in front of a firing squad, the dispatch said.

Veterans Parade At Brantford

Victoria Cross Men Take Salute as 5,000 British Ex-Soldiers March

BRANTFORD, Ont. — A thin line of Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross took the salute of 5,000 of their comrades of the Great War today as the first reunion of veterans of the British Army resident in Canada—now forged into the Imperial Corps Association of Canada—nearly its end.

The march past was the "warriors' parade," signaling the breakup of the great encampment of Salisbury Camp in Agriculture Park, where for the past three days the veterans attending the meetings have been quartered. The toast to the King tonight will conclude the reunion, called to weld scattered local organizations into one Dominion-wide body.

The veterans decided to send a delegation to England to petition the British government for financial aid. A special inquiry by a parliamentary committee will be asked.

The committee, if established, would investigate charges of "neglect of and discrimination against ex-imperialists in the Dominion." The veterans threatened to do everything in their power to prevent further migration from Great Britain to Canada unless the British government reverses its policy of refusing financial aid to veterans residing overseas.

Baking powder was discovered about the middle of the past century.

Dividends Soon From Resources

CALGARY (CP) — Premier Aberhart told a Social Credit rally at the Prophetic Bible Institute Sunday that Alberta intends to pay its debts and basic dividends through an intensive natural resources programme.

"We have no intention of confiscating from those who have to give to those who have not," he declared. "No intention whatever."

"We have immense natural resources in this province. We have many men and machines standing idle. It is our purpose to bring these two together so there will be increased production and plenty for all."

"You must be aware that our

The Premier reviewed the various resources, grain fields that produced "about a third of a crop" last year, ranch lands, oil and gas, lumber, tar sands and coal.

BIG COAL SUPPLIES

"Alberta has one-seventh of the coal resources of the world," he said.

Estimates placed the oil reserve in the Fort McMurray tar sands at 100,000,000,000 barrels, he said, and on this the Alberta government would collect a 10 per cent royalty.

"Our total debt could be easily solved by the royalty on the gasoline and oil that comes out of the McMurray sands," he declared.

"Yet, when we write the bondholders and tell them we are going to be able to pay our debts in full someone wants to know how were are going to do it and would not even give us the names of the bondholders."

"Are we ready to back up in a visible, audible way our demands from those who are interfering with them?" he asked. "We know the cause of this trouble is the lack of purchasing power in the hands of the consumer. That is so evident anybody can see it. We are, therefore, demanding that increased purchasing power in the form of monthly dividends be issued, and a lower cost of living be arranged."

Woodworkers State Position

H. Pritchett Says Board Will Explain C.I.O. Link to All Carpenters in U.S.

HOQUIAM, Wash. (CP) — Harold Pritchett, president of the new International Woodworkers of America, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, gained entry to the United States from Canada Sunday on a border permit.

The Vancouver, B.C., labor leader answered a challenge of A. W. Muir, Pacific Coast Carpenters' and Joiners' leader, that carpenters would not handle one stick of C.I.O. lumber, by saying "the International Woodworkers do not believe that carpenters intend to boycott themselves out of a job."

Pritchett, who had been refused entry to the United States on several occasions because authorities said he might become a charge on that country, issued a prepared statement of the executive board on jurisdictional union disputes.

"It is not the intention of the International Woodworkers of America to encroach on the jurisdiction of any union regardless of its affiliation," the statement said. "Our jurisdiction remains the same as before, from the stump to the finished product. We will fight to maintain it."

The executive board decided to communicate with each carpenters' local in the United States in order to explain the recent action in affiliating with the C.I.O. by the woodworkers. An appeal for support will be made to each union.

Five Provinces Plan Suggested

P. Gouin, Quebec Party Leader, Urges Abolition of Canadian Senate

MONTREAL (CP) — Abolition of the Senate and division of Canada into five sections instead of the present nine provinces is suggested by Paul Gouin, Action Libérale Nationale leader, as a step towards a more supple confederation and one more in conformity with the geographic, economic and ethical characteristics of the country.

Speaking at a meeting described as "non-political" at nearby L'Assomption on Sunday, the one-time ally of Premier Maurice Duplessis said he was categorically opposed to any revision of the British North America Act which would mean more centralization of powers with the federal government.

The act, he asserted, should be revised to divide Canada into five sections, "each different from the others from the geographic, economic viewpoints, and from the point of view of the mentality of their inhabitants."

The A.L.N. leader said his plan called for unification of the three prairie provinces into one, also bringing together the Maritime Provinces. "We could then reduce," he added, "the number of legislators sent to Ottawa, abolish the Senate and certain ministries which duplicate the work of the provincial officers, and we could, moreover, give those five new provinces wider legislative powers which would permit them to face their new obligations."

Canada-U.S. Relations

A QUESTION OF OUTSTANDING IMPORTANCE in Empire politics is the future of Canada's relations with the United States. In a well-informed article on the subject Canada's Weekly of London points out that it is of the utmost importance to the future of the British Commonwealth that the nature and extent of Canada's permanent ties with the United States should be increasingly understood, especially in England.

The fact is that geography, similar habits and like industrial techniques, together with a mutual desire or need for the products of the other country combine to make trade flow naturally in the North American continent on a north-south axis, the London journal points out. Obstacles to such trade are "unnatural" and exist only because of some deliberate political objective arising within one or other of the countries.

In the fiscal year 1935-36 Canada's total trade (imports plus exports) was some $1,412,000,000. Of this no less than $680,000,000 represented trade with the United States. In the same year, Canada's total imports were $563,000,000, of which $319,000,000 came from the United States; while total exports were $849,000,000, with $360,000,000 going to the United States. During recent months, with the general business revival, the Canadian-American trade proportion has been rising still higher.

The foregoing totals do not take into account Canada's substantial balance from United States tourist travel. Last year American tourists spent $225,000,000 in Canada. Allowing for the $99,000,000 Canadian tourists spent in the United States, there is a net of $156,000,000 in favor of Canada on the tourist account to be added to the $41,000,000 net favorable trade balance Canada had with the United States.

"We must never forget that Canada is merely a narrow band of population on the northern edge of a great and populous country," the London weekly pointedly reminds us. "Canada has no depth. Transportation costs, which often constitute in other countries a 'natural protection' against foreign trade, operate between Canada and the United States as a stimulus to such trade, because for many commodities, and over large areas transportation costs from producer to consumer are lower across the frontier than within it. To put the case concretely, if trade was left free from tariff restrictions there would not be merely an exchange of Canadian nickel for American petroleum and so forth, but also an exchange of Canadian for American fruit, Canadian for American coal, and even in some cases, Canadian for American heavy manufactures."

Perpetuating Intrigue

NOT LONG AGO, ADOLF HITLER illuminated the lowering European skies with the startling statement that Germany's main interest in the Spanish civil war was to obtain access to Spain's ore deposits.

That ambition now is on the threshold of fulfillment. A trade agreement has been signed, providing for immediate shipment of iron and copper ores and pyrites from Rebel territories to Germany.

So, apparently, everything is happily adjusted. His object attained, Hitler will not have to keep battleships and submarines nosing around in mine-laden Spanish waters, and Nazi troops may be withdrawn from Spain.

But is everything settled? Unfortunately, Germany has just now reached Part II of the drama. Part II requires protection of ore deposits and ships carrying ore cargoes. That means that the warships and submarines probably will stay right where they have been for months, open for business as usual.

"Defensive" War Tools

IT IS INTERESTING TO HEAR WHAT John W. Currell of Washington, inventor of a wartime aerial bomb, has to say for his contribution to war-making. "I don't feel at all proud of my work," he is quoted, "but someone has to work for defence."

Unfortunately, Mr. Currell didn't go ahead to explain definitely why he considers the aerial bomb a defence weapon. Madrid, Spain, proving ground for new fighting machines, seems to afford proof that aerial bombs are main offensive weapons. Bombed almost daily by Rebel planes, its only defence has been anti-aircraft guns and planes armed with machine guns. It has not yet been proved practical to drop aerial bombs on a fast-moving target.

It may be granted that someone has to work for the national defence. But it is ticklish work staying within bounds. For war has a knack of taking over best intentions and shaping them to its own ends.

Delightful Resorts

COMPLIMENTS COME OCCASIONALLY, but criticism comes frequently to elected representatives of the city in spite of the sacrifices many of them make to serve the community. One hears considerably more about a "landlocked lighthouse," of which a few citizens do not approve, than all the enterprises that have been embarked upon with success to the advantage of the citizens in general.

This is one of the reasons why at this particular time it becomes a pleasant duty to express appreciation, which will be endorsed by thousands of citizens, for the wonderful improvements effected in the last few years at Thetis Lake and the Gorge. We must confess that it took the visit of tourist friends to draw our attention to these attractive summer resorts. A beautiful summer day at Thetis Lake with its charming setting sent them into rhapsodies. It was well populated but not crowded. Sun bathers basked on the rocks in the sunshine. Spectators watched from comfortable seats under shady trees. Children swam in safety in the shallow water of the edge of the lake and experts plunged into cool, deep water, or dived from a commodious diving platform.

At the Gorge conditions were equally as delightful near the city bathing place popularly known as "the free". Loads of sand have been dumped there, so that there is a large area of shallow, safe bathing for children. There are diving platforms for the adults. Completing the picturesque scene of happy swimmers, one may watch with interest and share in the anticipation of the occasional fisherman standing in his boat and casting for the sea trout—a good form of sport at the Gorge which they say has been overlooked by a lot of Victoria fishermen.

"If such places as this were near San Francisco or Los Angeles," a tourist remarked, "the crowds would be so dense you could hardly swim and you would have to get here by 5 a.m. to find a place to sit down". It may be because Victorians accept these things as a matter of course that they fail to voice their appreciation but become so concerned over barking dogs, loud radios or seagulls that squawk too noisily.

Distinguished Humanitarian

A CHEST SPECIALIST, A MEDICAL author of note, and an inventor of surgical instruments, Dr. Norman Bethune, who will show motion pictures of actual Spanish warfare at the Chamber of Commerce today, was internationally known long before he went to Spain.

A member of the council of the American Association of Thoracic Surgery, the Canadian doctor was chief of the Division of Thoracic Surgery at the large Sacred Heart Hospital in Montreal and consulting surgeon to the Department of Pensions and National Health.

It was because of his deep interest in humanitarian work that Dr. Norman Bethune resigned to head the first Canadian Blood Transfusion Mission in Spain. Before that he had organized the Children's Art Centre in Montreal.

The Canadian Blood Transfusion Mission uses the latest Russian-American method of collecting, storing and transporting blood. One of the cars of the mission is capable of rushing 90 gallons of blood to any point at any time.

Beside blood transfusion, Dr. Bethune is interested in other humanitarian work. Due to the civil war, more than 200,000 Spanish children are without parents, without food and clothing. Dr. Bethune is asking the Canadian people to help his committee to take care of 500 of these children.

Notes

Banks in England employ nearly 15,000 women. But no jester would dare accuse them all of being tellers.

A grammarian says the correct plural of teaspoonful is teaspoonfuls. But it will still be hard for anyone to swallow.

Patriots too often are the ones who go out and fight for a noble cause so those who are not patriots can make more money.

Headline says the grain market sags, affording a bond of sympathy for the young housewife trying to avoid that very thing with the biscuits.

Professor Mergenthaler, Minister of Education in Wuertemberg, has thought up a new one. "Subjects which wound the moral feelings of the Germanic race," the minister told the local teachers, "must not be dealt with in the schools, and consequently certain portions of the Old Testament must be omitted and other parts shoved into the background."

The news that the Petit Journal, one of the largest of the Paris daily newspapers, has passed into the hands of Col. de la Rocque, militant leader of the Fascist Croix de Feu party in France, would seem to support the suspicion voiced by Bruce Hutchison in his addresses since his return from Europe that Fascist power is growing in France, the last great stronghold of democracy on the continent. Until recently The Journal had occasionally supported the radical Blum government. The transaction for taking over the Petit Journal by de la Rocque was negotiated by none other than M. Laval, and it is said he raised the purchase price of $500,000 among his banker friends which, of course, indicates the political trend of some bankers, at least.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OBVIOUS FACT

IT HAS LONG BEEN a theory of mine that the public never notices an obvious and important fact; whereas, if the public, if you and I, are worked up over anything, you can be pretty sure it is unimportant and obscure. Now the most obvious fact about the problems of human society today is that they are solving themselves at a remarkable speed and in a most efficient fashion. The problems of humanity are solving themselves by the simple process of eliminating humanity.

All the best statistics show that the human race is committing suicide. Everywhere in the white world, with a few exceptions, the birth rate is declining and population either has fallen off or will start to do so, as in the United States, within the present century. The black races continue to proliferate and swarm, but when they have acquired our western civilization, as they are rapidly doing, they will, doubtless, go through the same process.

In the end, populations will decline everywhere and any competent mathematician could sit down and figure out, by charting the present curves, when the last man will die. This is an interesting calculation which you might make some evening after you have read the comic strips. Meanwhile, the wise man won't worry too much about our current difficulties, knowing that nature has a way of handling them.

LET 'EM GO

THIS VERY SUBJECT has been concerning Mrs. Noggins and me a good deal lately as we have driven to town.

"It's getting nowadays," Mrs. Noggins said to me, "as people'd druther 'ave smallpox in the 'ouse than a baby. Why, when Mrs. Boggs 'ad 'er third, people would stop you on the street and say, 'ave you 'eard about poor Mrs. Boggs—they'd say, like as if she was dead or something. Not about Mrs. Boggs, you'd say. 'She's 'ad another. They'd say, very solemn and sad. 'Another wot?' you'd say, thinkin' maybe she'd 'ad pneumonia or somethin'. 'Another baby,' they'd say, a-rollin' their eyes somethin' terrible."

"Why, in my time, there was only a fair beginnin'." So I says to Mrs. Boggs, I says, "Don't listen to 'em, I says, but live your own life, I says. 'Ave as many as you feel like, as the spirit moves you, I says. But no, she won't. Of course, I don't blame 'er much the way kids turn out these days. I mean wots the use of raisin' kids when they don't amount to nothin'." You can't expect, I says to Mrs. Boggs, "to be as lucky as I am and 'ave a boy grow up like Alf, a plumber and all. They don't come like Alf any more, I says. 'Look at that boy of yours, I says—that Jerry, three years old now—look at Jerry, wot will 'e amount to? Why, 'e'll never make a plumber, not 'im. Jerry ain't got the stuff to make a big success, I says. Oh, you can tell a plumber young, if he's got it in 'im, my boy Alf allus says. I wouldn't go so far as to say that, but the moment I seen Alf I knew 'e would be a success. Not like 'is brother Burt. You could tell right away by looking at Burt 'e wouldn't be no plumber. And I said to Mrs. Boggs, "You can't expect Jerry to be a big success, because in all probability, 'e'll be like 'is father. Most boys turn out like their fathers these days and that's the whole trouble with the world. If any boy is goin' to turn out like 'is dad, the best thing you can do with 'im, I says to Mrs. Boggs, 'is to 'im with an axe while 'e's young. I would, if I'd thought Alf would be like 'is dad."

"It's no wonder there is race suicide when there's so many fathers in the world. No woman wants a son like 'em. Well, wot I say is, if people are goin' to be like they are these days, let 'em suicide as fast as they like, and the way things is goin', the faster they do it the better. Wot I mean is, if somethin' like that don't 'appen, the world will be full of Boggs and 'it 'ad much better be full of nothin'."

SURPRISE

WE WERE discussing these important matters of human development on our wharf at the lake last night. The little boy from next door sat listening for some time and finally when asked what he thought about the progress of civilization, he said: "I wonder if Wilbur (our new duck, in case you've forgotten) will hatch out a white baby or a black baby."

"White, of course," said his sister. "Naturally. He's white himself, isn't he?"

"You never know," said her brother, solemnly. "I saw a black boy in a magazine picture. Where did he come from, I wonder? If I had a black baby some day, what then?"

"What then?" his sister jeered. "Well, then," said he, ending this profound discussion of human problems, "I would sure be surprised."

TRAVEL ETIQUETTE

News From France

Amusing injunctions to travelers are contained in a railway time-table, almost a century old, which has just been discovered in Rouen, France. Here are some extracts: "Every time a voyager desires to change his seat, he must notify the conductor and show his ticket. "Smoking is forbidden in railroad stations and trains. "No embarrassing packages may be carried by voyagers into railroad trains. "Travelers are warned against getting acquainted too easily and too speedily with fellow-voyagers. A cautious reticence is recommended. "Dogs must be brought to the station 10 minutes before the departure of the train."

Where Sea Gulls Wheel and Swoop

(From The Calgary Herald)

THEY will say perhaps—some of those thousands of citizens who have spent vacations at the Pacific coast—"yes, we followed the birds to Victoria." Yet, instead, it was the seagulls who followed them, their very journeying making the trip attractive. In their hundreds they sit along the docks at Vancouver, these Glaucous Gulls who nest among the rocky islands in the Straits of Georgia. Bollard and ship rail and the roofs of the waterside sheds are vantage points from which they watch for their opportunity to convoy ships to sea.

Then as the "blue peter" on ocean going ships is hauled down or the warning blast denotes the departure of vessels to the Gulf Islands, perhaps a score or more raise their voices in a more strident music as if to announce that they—by some queer understanding—have been detailed above all others to the particular duty of accompanying the boat on its cruise.

BUT it is not altruism which prompts this gesture. The gulls in their uniform of silver grey and white, with their youngsters clad in the drab garb of their cadetship, know that a richer bounty than they can hope to harvest among the offal along the shoreline will presently fall to their lot as scraps from the ship's dining saloons find their way through the kitchen port-holes or tourists toss tidbits to them.

Then as they weave and wheel around the vessel, discriminating eyes—which can distinguish to a nicety between a choice morsel or a piece of unpalatable refuse—galvanize them into more rapid action as in graceful swoops they retrieve much of the food ere it touches the waves.

Equally at ease, they rest on the waves in the white wake of the ship or take free passage along the decks. But they never become too friendly to human overtures. Balancing on webbed feet ill adapted for gripping a perch they sway slightly with the ocean's heave like those long accustomed to shipboard.

And always they head into the wind so that need for sudden launching into the air finds them prepared to bring the planes of their wings into instant action. Meanwhile, their soft "mewings" and their constant chatter or the shriller scream as they swoop in quest of quarry, add to the delight of the voyage.

BUT the sea and its rocky coast is not their only habitat. More and more these great gulls are finding attractions far inland as grubs and grasshoppers provide toothsome morsels. Later summer will see hundreds following back to the vacationists from the coast to spend their days among the prairie lands and their nights roosting on such bodies of water as provide safe harbor.

Far into the autumn, long lines of gulls winging in leisurely fashion to the retreat of Glenmore reservoir will pass over the city in the hour approaching dusk. But the raucous notes so familiar to the coast will be absent. Instead, their calls as they wing westward through the afterglow will be soft and modulated.

IN SEARCH OF PEACE AND QUIET

To the Editor:—I am a visitor to Victoria looking for peace and quiet, but not so much quiet as forgetfulness. In find Victoria the place I am looking for. The fact is I like it so well I am going to buy a little home here, so I will be as comfortable as my small means will permit.

Right here I wish to ask a non-investing visitor if he could not find quiet and peace in the country from which he says he came, how could he expect to ever find it in any city—let alone in one as nice as Victoria?

Rosierucians Watch Nature Fashion Show

"In the sombre atmosphere of a physics laboratory, nature has taken to designing the patterns and colour combinations of milady's gowns—and always in good taste. Nearly 1,000 Rosierucians who attended the eighth annual Amore Rosierucian Convention in San Jose, California, concluded this month, watched this strange phenomenon," said Lieut. Col. Phillips of Beach Drive, Victoria, a local member who has just returned from the conclave.

Daily, according to Col. Phillips, delegates observed in the light laboratory of the order, rays of sunlight from a helioscope (which moves so that the sun's beams may be reflected from it in a fixed position) enter mathematically adjusted prisms, where the ensuing color were arranged according to their respective vibratory rates. The color harmony of the spectrum is most perfect, and a great variety of shades and hues can be had by a slight change of the angle of the prisms. Each band of color is always in a natural relationship to all others. By the addition of refraction mirrors, the rays of sunlight form a magnificent array of geometrical patterns, pleasing to the eye and easily reproduced for commercial purposes. The designs are infinite in number and entirely new to the fashion world. Textile manufacturers are turning to this method for a study of natural color harmony and symmetry.

The convention programme included daily discourses on philosophic and scientific subjects (including a demonstration of the rays above the ultra-violet band) in the Rosierucian Museum and Auditorium. It is said that nearly every state in the union and the Dominion of Canada, and several foreign countries were represented. Important administrative matters included the election of nine grand councillors of the philosophic order, representing as many different sections of North America.

FOR FRESH AIR

To the Editor:—We are all thankful to be enjoying the sunshine and the beautiful flowers and trees that are so prolific here. But many folk forget the need of opening wide the windows and doors and letting the sunshine into their homes. As one doctor said, "Keep the air in the home as fresh as possible and sickness will be avoided very often." The cheapest tonic one can have is to make a habit of opening windows and doors on rising in the morning and again in the afternoon when more sunshine is taken in. Some of us believe in letting bedroom windows stay open most of the time. If people sit outside with their reading and sewing and enjoy the summer air before it is gone, nerves would be strengthened and renewed.

ONE MILLION VICTIMS

From Toronto Star

The Spanish government estimates that nearly a million lives have been snuffed out during the 12 months of civil war in Spain, which would be 1-20th of the entire population. Perhaps not a million men have been engaged in actual warfare, but each side has executed many of its opponents—their fellow-countrymen—and many civilians, including thousands of women and children, have been killed by aerial warfare and long-distance shelling. The Fascist rebels have destroyed priceless art treasure and gems of architecture. Their power, relatively, soon may be on the wane.

Mother at 11, Doubly Happy at 13

Fifteen months ago this young mother, Mrs. Daniel Gonzales, of Port Arthur, Tex., was the talk of the country. For, before her twelfth birthday, she gave birth to a seven-pound son, January 19, 1936. If the last you heard was: "Mother and baby doing well," just look at this. Not only has Mrs. Gonzales' first born become a husky youngster, but he has acquired a sister, Estella Alice, born July 7 this year, less than a month after the mother celebrated her 13th birthday on June 15. The Mexican father is 22.

Miss Margaret Jones
Pretty Bride of
Horace W. Miller

One of the prettiest weddings of the summer season drew a large congregation to St. John's Church on Saturday evening when Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage Margaret Thompson, youngest daughter of Mrs. Stephen Jones, 248 Douglas Street, and the late Mr. Jones, and Mr. Horace Walter Miller, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Miller, "Kearley," Beach Drive, Uplands.

Given away by Mr. Samuel McClure, an old friend of the family, the bride was an attractive figure in her gown of ivory silk lace over crepe, fashioned with a long train, the bodice having a high neckline, and long tight sleeves buttoned closely at the wrists. A coronet of pearls and orange blossoms confined her filmy veil to the head, and she carried a shower of butterfly roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

FIVE ATTENDANTS
Miss Mildred Jones, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing coral chiffon over gold, the full skirt extending to a brief train. A graceful scarf of coral and peach chiffon arranged in cape-like effect, a halo hat of georgette to match her gown, trimmed with velvet ribbons, and an arm bouquet of Tallman roses completed her attire.

The four bridesmaids were Miss May Miller, sister of the bridegroom, and Misses Ruth Norton, Muriel Winterbottom and Roma Dorman, who all wore frocks of coral chiffon over gold, trimmed with shirred cords of georgette. They wore hats of georgette to match their gowns, in off-the-face style, with velvet ribbon streamers at the back, and carried arm bouquets of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Arthur Luney supported the groom, and Messrs. Vernon Ridgway, Wallie Mosedale, Lionel Dickson and John Todd escorted the guests to their pews, which were tied with posies of pink carnations and white satin ribbon.

RECEPTION HELD
After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jones receiving the guests in a French gown of black printed crepe and lace, with a pleated shoulder cape of lace, and a model hat of black net and lace, trimmed with an egret. She was assisted by Mrs. Miller, wearing a printed ensemble of rose and blue taffeta on a white ground, with a rose mohair turban trimmed with blue flowers and a pink veil. Both wore corsage bouquets of gardenias.

The young couple stood in the beautifully decorated drawing-room beneath a floral arch and white wedding bell to receive felicitations, the reception rooms being massed with gladioli, stocks and butterfly roses. The bride's cake was cut in the drawing-room, supper being served in the dining-room, the table being decorated with white stocks, lily of the valley, gladioli and garlands of sweet peas hanging from the electrolux to each corner of the table.

The bride and groom left later on a motor trip to the south, and will return in about three weeks and make their home on Transit Road, Oak Bay. For traveling, the bride donned a three-piece suit of fine French blue flannel, with navy blue accessories, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

The date for the summer open-air concert of the Arion Club has been fixed for Thursday, August 12. P. J. Hughes, assistant conductor, will lead the choir. The programme will be heard in Beacon Hill Park. The usual practice of the Arion Club to donate the proceeds to a local charity will be adhered to. A collection will be taken and given to the funds of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Jean Dilworth, 570 Simcoe Street, on Friday, when she entertained for a few friends. Throughout the evening games were enjoyed, the winner being Mrs. Owen Weightman. Shortly before midnight a delightful buffet supper was served. The invited guests were the Misses May Wilson, Shirley McKenzie, Wilson, Ivy Grossmith, Patty Wilson and Jean Dilworth, and Messrs. Jeffrey Reynolds (Winnipeg), Norman Symonds, Owen Weightman (Glenboro, Man.), Don Stancil, Stanley Sellick and Douglas Leask.

Mrs. G. Wright and Miss Gay Stewart were joint hostesses at a "mystery party" Friday night. The guests were sent unsigned invitations and instructions, which took them to the Pilot Station on Dallas Road, where they were blindfolded and taken for a ride, which ended at 404 Oswego. During the evening the guests were all tried at a mock trial, every one being found guilty for talking out of turn. An unusual supper was served, the guests having to sit in a circle on the floor, where they were served fish and chips. The centerpiece was a huge pan of coffee surrounded with cups, the guests having to help themselves. After supper singing and dancing was enjoyed. The invited guests were the Misses Rosella MacDonald, Peggy and Edna Creed, Hazel Hanson, Dorothy Johnson and Hazel Harward, and Messrs. Ernie Bell, Ginger Chedester, Eric Carey, Colin Campbell, Bob Dewhurst, Bill Dow, Jack Rimmer and Ted Miles; also Mr. and Mrs. J. Onslow and Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnston.

MACGREGOR-MACKENZIE

Of much interest to British Columbia is the announcement of a wedding which took place on June 30 at St. Giles' Cathedral, Edinburgh, when Miss Katharine H. Mackenzie became the bride of Dr. Thomas N. MacGregor, M.B., Ch.B., F.R.C.S., M.C.O.G. The bride is a niece of Hon. R. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a toe-length gown of white silk net over taffeta, fashioned with full gathered skirt and long bishop sleeves with plain bodice and Peter Pan collar, fastened down the front with a row of silk-covered buttons. Her large white mohair hat was trimmed with white satin ribbon. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas with maidenhair fern.

Mrs. T. Parkinson attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing a becoming ensemble of pink triple sheer with a large leghorn hat, and carrying a colonial bouquet of pastel shade flowers. Mr. C. W. McIlmoyl, brother of the bride, attended as groom's man. Mrs. Bastin presided at the organ and played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Wilkinson Road. The happy couple left later for a trip to Seattle and mainland points, the bride traveling in a powder blue knitted costume with white accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home in Brentwood. Among the many beautiful gifts received were the pyrex and silver casserole from the Saanichton Badminton Club, of which the bride and groom are members.

RICH-RALPH

Rev. F. W. McKinnon officiated Saturday evening in the Douglas Street Baptist Church at the marriage service which united Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ralph, 930 Inverness Street, and Mr. Chester Rich, Gorge Road. Mrs. McKinnon was at the organ and as the register was being signed Mrs. J. Murrant sang "Because." The church was decorated with white and pink flowers, and knots of sweet peas, tied with pink and white ribbons, marked the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a turquoise blue crepe de chine gown and a white turban with veil and carried an arm bouquet of sweet peas and roses. The bride's sister, Miss Mary, attended her and was in a dress of tea-rose organdie, with which she wore a white off-the-face hat and carried carnations. Mr. George Songhurst supported the groom and the ushers were Messrs. David and Stanley Ralph, brothers of the bride.

Relatives and intimate friends attended the small reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Ralph received the guests in a gown of coral crepe, with white accessories. Supper was served from a table arranged with vases of sweet peas and centred with the three-tier wedding cake.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Rich will travel as far as Saskatoon and will return to Victoria in a month to make their home.

REID-OSTLER

Among the many pretty weddings solemnized on Saturday evening was that of Thelma, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ostler, 3339 Doncaster Drive, and Mr. Ronald Vincent Reid, 110 Medina Street.

Mr. Ostler gave his daughter in marriage, she making a charming picture in her Empire frock of heavy white taffeta, with a full-flowing skirt with a corded hemline. The square-necked bodice had puffed sleeves outlined with taffeta pleating, and was trimmed with a cluster of white forget-me-nots in front at the high waist-line. Her veil of billowy bridal tulle was caught at the neck, and arranged in bonnet-effect with a frill of knife-pleated tulle edged with a spray of orange blossoms. She wore lace mittens and carried a Colonial posy of yellow and mauve flowers.

The bride's two sisters, the Misses Mona and Joyce Ostler, were bridesmaids in pretty frocks of yellow and mauve lace, respectively, and matching mittens. The frocks were trimmed from neck to hemlines with a double row of pleated net, centred with a single row of buttons down the front, and were worn with off-the-face, crownless hats of pleated net, with velvet ribbon streamers down the back. They carried bouquets of mauve sweet peas. Mr. Robert Ostler, brother of the bride, was best man.

A reception of relatives and close friends was held later at the home of the bridegroom's parents, during which the bride and groom stood beneath an archway of rambler roses. Vases of mauve sweet peas, and tall yellow candles in silver holders adorned the supper table, which was centred with the wedding cake.

After a honeymoon on the island, Mr. and Mrs. Reid will make their home on Lang Street. The bride went away in a two-piece costume of aqua blue silk with a long princess coat and white accessories.

Among the many gifts was a handsome cheque to both bride and groom from the management of the British-America Paint Co., Ltd., of which they have been employees, and a set of table cutlery and silver from their fellow-employees.

Court Rules Mother To Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—The court of domestic relations has ruled a working mother must contribute to the support of her children on the same basis as her estranged husband.

Observing the mother "is no longer always the homemaker," Justice Jacob Panken said Saturday the case undoubtedly was the first in which such a ruling was made.

The father, a Works Progress Administration worker, earns $58 a month and gives $25 to his children, six-year-old twin girls, who live with their grandmother. The mother, a stenographer earning $1,550 a year, was ordered to pay a like amount.

The court, following its custom, did not reveal their names.

Diphtheria once killed over 30 children in every 100,000 of population in this country, but immunizing children has greatly reduced this cause of death.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon experience is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tune up the system, thus lessening the discomfort from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Venus Women Oust Glamour Girl

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"Venus women"—stronger than men and more beautiful than ever—soon will put skids under the now-reigning "glamour girls," a beauty expert predicted today.

Russel Mancuso, instructor for the U.S. pioneer works progress administration beauty course, offered under the adult education programme, said the "rouge and lipstick era is about over."

"Women will turn their attention from wardrobe and make-up details to more worldly affairs," he said.

"They will be altogether different and superior to men in strength, with enough beauty thrown in to sway the affairs of the nation."

Competition among women will stimulate the new type and new strength, Mancuso added.

"For that matter, women are already stronger than men, as a general rule," he said.

Woman as North Woods Guide

ELY, Minn. (AP)—Milady may have the services of doctors and lawyers of her own sex and now, should she like to rough it a bit, she may utilize a woman north woods guide.

But she must make her appointment far in advance for Miss Marie Sarkipato says business is so good that bookings run into September.

The comely young woman, blonde and 13, obtained her woods training early. Her father, Otto Sarkipato, operated a boat livery on Shagawa Lake, where Marie was born, for more than 20 years. That is responsible for the young lady's training.

Miss Sarkipato (she pronounces it sar-kee-pato) caters exclusively to women, although she has guided couples through the Border Lakes canoe routes which frequently keeps her in the wilds two weeks at a time.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1937. Conflicting planetary aspects are active under this planetary government, according to astrology. While success is promised for periods of courage and decision, they may encounter sudden obstacles. The moon today occupies Venus, and from this the stars forecast much of concern to the planet Earth. Astrologers now emphasize the importance of international friendships and alliances. Under this direction of the stars love affairs will be sudden, the stars predict. As world chaos threatens human souls seek succor in romance.

Commerce and trade now should show increase. This way stimulates enterprise and encourages expansion.

This is a lucky day for signing legal papers of every sort, especially leases or contracts. Warning is given of rise in rentals and cost of living in the autumn. Varieties of weather will continue and in many places excessive heat will extend far into the fall. Violent storms are to mark late September. Many thunderstorms are forecast for this month.

Boulter Honored At Summer Show

Former Secretary Is Presented With Life Membership in Society

In 17 years as secretary of the Victoria Horticultural Society, F. E. Boulter has seen it grow from a membership of 13 to over 300. A month ago he resigned and on Saturday evening before a large crowd at the Summer Flower Show, Mr. Boulter was presented with a life membership in the society.

Only once previously has this honor been bestowed on any member and that was to Horace Whiteoak, past president.

F. E. BOULTER

George Attwood, one of the founders of the horticultural society, made the presentation. The life membership was in the shape of an attractive plaque conveying the good wishes of the society's members. Mr. Attwood paid tribute to the work the former secretary had done in building up the organization and felt sure that the society would still have Mr. Boulter's support.

The secretaryship had not been work but pleasure for him, Mr. Boulter said, and promised that the society would always have his interest and active support.

A memorial signed by all members of the society will be presented to Mr. Boulter at a later date.

During the presentation of prizes which came at the end of the show on Saturday evening, Mayor Andrew McGavin spoke briefly of the society's work while Mr. McGavin gave the winners their awards.

P. R. Leighton, president of the society, thanked all exhibitors and judges who had made the show an outstanding success. He

By ROE FULKERSON

"Poor Mary!" sighed Imogene.
 "I don't like her," said Andrew promptly.

"But you don't even know her!"

"That's unreasonable."
 "Not at all."

"You are condemning some one unheard."

"I don't want to hear about her!"

"What's the matter with you, Andrew?"

"It's with her," insisted Andrew.

"You don't even know who she is!"

"Oh, yes, I do. She is Poor Mary."

"Poor Mary Who?"

"I don't even care. She is Poor Mary and I never want to know any one who is Poor Mary."

"Poor John, Poor Tom, Dick or Harry. It is the prefix to which I object. All people who are spoken of with that prefix are rabbits!"

"Why, Andrew?"

"Yes, they are. All of the people who wear that prefix like a billygoat wears whiskers on his chin, are people who have given up to some sorrow or affliction and have died into it like a timid rabbit diving into a burrow, or are crouched behind it trembling, like a rabbit hides behind a bunch of grass."

"Those people are the people who have been weak spines and are afraid to face their sorrows or their misfortunes. Thus they become Poor Marys that every one is duty bound to pity and make allowances for. If they had the real stuff in them, they would snap out of it and lick their misfortunes or their sorrows, and not wear that prefix."

"These people have all had some deep sorrow, some death of a loved one, some serious illness, some loss of money or a good job, some unhappy love affair or some other misfortune, but they have hidden behind it while a thousand other people all around them have let a similar past be past, and with chin up have faced and licked the world.

"The people who are Poor Marys have taken a beating from life and settled down to being sacrificial lambs and objects of pity. No one ever felt pity for a person to whom he did not feel superior. We look down on people we pity, and nobody cares to be around a person on whom he must look down."

"I don't like Poor Marys and I am willing to say so. Every one gets some bumps in life.
 Those who take it on the chin and come back for more, have the love and admiration of every one.
 The ones who take it sitting down and do nothing about it, have the pity of the world, perhaps, but never any of its admiration."

"A poor mouth is a poor substitute for a smile. A trembling chin is a poor substitute for one which juts out and dares the world to punch it again. I don't want to know Poor Mary, and I refuse to feel sorry for her."

"I do," said Imogene, smiling.
 "I suppose I should ask what misfortune befell her."

"I won't tell you."

"Why not?"

"You will laugh."

"I need a good laugh," begged
 Andrew.

"She has a gorgeous figure, and she wore her dress too tight to the dance Saturday night."

"Then what?"

"She sat down and it split in three places, and she had to sit there the rest of the evening and refuse to dance."

"Poor Mary! laughed Andrew.

At frequent intervals applause broke out among the spectators.
 The various drill teams performed as they marched, the bands were in their best form and one group marching behind its band sang splendidly.

TRAFFIC TIED UP

The parade, which lasted about an hour, tied up street traffic.
 Street cars and buses were lined for blocks, but no one seemed to mind. Everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion and thoroughly enjoyed the show.
 It took nearly an hour for street traffic to move again in normal fashion. The sidewalks were thronged with pedestrians, most of whom were residents, but many hundreds were tourists.
 British sailors from H.M.S.
 Exeter and American sailors from U.S.S. Eagle, in uniform, added to the cosmopolitan air of the city.

The silk and satin uniforms of the Shriners, their colorful headgear, the band leaders with their great batons, the xylophone which one band carried, its silvery notes making splendid music—all were most picturesque and made the parade well worth seeing.

Conspicuous in the parade were the Union Jack, the Stars and Stripes and various Temple Emblems. All were on magnificent silken cloth, heavily fringed in gold and silver.

CONVENTION HALL

Following the parade the Shriners went to the Shrine Hall for dinner and later adjourned to the Empress Hotel where the two-day session was concluded with a gay ball. Most of the visitors left yesterday on various boats for Seattle, Port Angeles and Vancouver although Shrine uniforms were still seen on the streets of the city this morning.

Saturday evening the Shrine Charters performed on the Showboat and delighted a vast audience, which filled every seat and overflowed onto the sidewalks and the causeway.

The town was brilliant Saturday evening. The lighted streamers across the main streets, lent a carnival atmosphere; there were various lighted Shrine mystic symbols hanging in the main thoroughfares; the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel were ablaze with tiny lights; the fountain in Parliament Square played its colored waters; the City Hall was outlined in light and everywhere there were scenes of happiness, as befitting the celebration of Victoria's birthday.

Sign language was often useful to Indians in hunting, because they could communicate without alarming the game.

Calling All Dogs!

 this deafness became more and

Chicago Wins Third Straight From Giants

By PETE SALLAWAY

THERE is more to the latest Rogers Hornsby story than his being thrown out again, this time like a sacrifice bunter. From an unimpeachable source it is learned that Hornsby's next stop will be Cincinnati, where he is to succeed Charley Dresen next spring.

The same authority has Dresen going to New York, where, after a season as coach and chief assistant to Bill Terry, he will become manager of the Giants in 1939.

Being fired by the St. Louis Browns in mid-season certainly is enough to mark the finish of the ordinary manager, but there never was anything commonplace about Hard-boiled Hornsby.

The Rajah has more baseball lives than a game has innings.

They wrote his obituary in August, 1932, when, broken by misfortune, he was tossed out by the Chicago Cubs when he least expected to be.

It was that winter that Branch Rickey, whose scalp he once demanded, took Hornsby back into the St. Louis Cardinal fold, and who in 1934 engineered his bow in the American League as manager of the Browns.

A product of this same Cardinal organization, Warren G. Giles, would be sponsoring Hornsby in Cincinnati.

Hornsby's American League ouster in St. Louis was as sudden and mysterious as were his sale to the Giants by the Cardinals, his transfer from the Polo Grounds to Braves' Field, and his not exactly honorable discharge by the Cubs.

Hornsby's iron hand failed to club mediocre talent out of its tracks.

Perhaps the likeable Jim Bottomley and his sunny disposition will fare better. Certainly, Bottomley will humanize the Browns.

Sunny Jim doesn't have to worry, though. Baseball was good to him while he was first basing and helping to bat the Cardinals to four pennants and two world championships. He has a 127-acre farm at Bourbon, Mo., property at Nakomis, Ill., and is worth $100,000. He wanted to retire a year ago, explaining that he didn't want to be a leech.

As for Dresen's transfer to New York, Terry's contract as manager expires next year, and he long has aspired to devote all his time to the front office. He long has had great faith in Dresen's judgment of players and managerial skill.

And Giles, not long removed from the Cardinal chain, like everybody else in it, still regards Hornsby as a managerial genius, particularly in the heat of battle with a club that is headed somewhere. He also respects the Rajah as one of the best appraisers of baseball talent in the business. A graduate of the Cardinal school, he is in favor of strict discipline.

Anyway, he'll continue to stand or fall on his own opinions.

Nose Out New York 5 to 4 in 11 Innings; Cards Get Even Break

Yanks Victors

Hubbell, Dean and Mungo. A few weeks ago each of them could have attracted bids in six figures on the ivory trading market as possessors of baseball's currently greatest "soups"; today they look as washed up, at least temporarily, as the week's laundry.

Representing half a million dollars or more in pitching arms to the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers, Dizzy Dean, Carl Hubbell and Van Mungo are as sour as a barrel of pickles right now in the National League.

The recent failures of this set of flingers, touted far and wide as the absolute tops and chief point in the argument that the National League has it all over the American League in pitching, was the big talking point of the baseball business today. It overshadowed even the runaway Chicago Cubs, with a six-game lead, are starting to make of the National League chase.

Mungo, ailing since just before the all-star game, hasn't pitched since July 18. Hubbell hasn't won a game since July 18. In his last three starts, he lasted just six innings against the Cubs, and three against the Cards, and, on Friday, was belted again by the Cubs.

Dean's dismal doings rate also from the all-star game. A batted drive bounced off one of Dizzy's big toes that day, and the great one is now a well-liked "cousin" to opposition batters. He hasn't won a game since July 4.

Yesterday, against his perennial pushovers, the Brooklyn Dodgers, he lasted only to the sixth and was tagged with a 7-to-3 whipping in a double-header opener. The Cards came back to take the nightcap 7-to-1, behind Lonnie Warneke.

"I'm not right," he wailed afterward. "I shouldn't be pitching. My arm's sore and I can't follow through at all."

Without him and Hubbell, the Cards and Giants don't stand a chance of catching the red-hot Cubs, who made it three straight over the Giants yesterday with a 5-to-4 win in 11 innings.

The New York Yankees pounded the St. Louis Browns, 14-to-5, with Joe DiMaggio hitting homer No. 31 and going out in front of Babe Ruth's 1927 record for the same period.

The Chicago White Sox squeezed out a 4-to-3 and 5-to-3 twin win over Philadelphia, the first going 11 innings. Boston's rip-snorting Red Sox clipped the Detroit Tigers, 11-to-4 in the opener and then battled to a 10-inning 2-to-2 tie in the nightcap, to take third place in the American League.

Bob Feller, "boy wonder" of the Cleveland Indians, turned in his second victory of the year, holding Washington to seven hits in an 11-to-2 victory. He fanned nine. Pittsburgh's Pirates bested the Boston Bees 8-to-4, and the Phillies split with the Cincinnati Reds, taking the nightcap, 3-to-2, after losing 5-to-1 in the opener.

Climb Further Ahead in League Standings With Victory Over Albions

Batting and bowling in remarkable form, Reg. Wenman and R. Poyntz led Incogs to a decisive victory over Albions in a league match at the University School grounds on Saturday as the winning team climbed further ahead of challengers in the Victoria and District Cricket League.

Incogs piled up a total of 107, with Wenman and Poyntz putting on 50 not out and 20 respectively, while the Albions, all told, scored but 71.

Wenman also took six wickets for 16 runs, while Poyntz took four for 19. For the losers, Norm Smith scored 22 not out and took four wickets for 27 runs.

In a friendly match, Five Cs defeated Victoria B by 43 runs, the scores being 141 to 98.

Victoria proved too strong for a team from H.M.S. Exeter in an all day match at Macdonald Park. The city side scored 127 in the first innings and added 98 for the first in the second. The ship's eleven scored 106 in their first turn at bat but failed in the second inning, being dismissed for 38.

Smart Wenatchee Catcher

MICKY DUGGAN

When the Wenatchee Chiefs open a two-game pro baseball series with the Vancouver Maple Leafs at the Athletic Park tomorrow evening at 6, Mickey Duggan, classy receiver for the Chiefs, will be seen in action. Formerly with the Coast League Seattle Indians Duggan's heavy hitting has been responsible for many of Wenatchee's runs. In the second game on Wednesday afternoon play will start at 5. Vancouver is at present in a keen race for second-half honors in the Western International League. Wenatchee won the first half. The player rosters of the two clubs follow: Vancouver, Harriman, Correll, Mountain, Ferraris, Colbern, Velling, Ivy, Samhammer, Smith, Fleming, Cecil, Kumalae, Blasinski, Marlowe, Kerr, and Hauser; Wenatchee, Athey, Williams, Bonetti, McCue, Springer, Krause, Kingsley, Duggan, Weber, Serventi, Brown, Vesel, Coodchild, Newsham, Wright and Tobin.

Somerville Wins National Honors

OTTAWA (CP)—For the sixth time the mantle of Canada's amateur golf champion rested today upon the shoulders of C. Ross Somerville of the London, Ont., Hunt Club.

Over the Ottawa Hunt Club course Saturday the veteran tournament star, once winner of the United States amateur crown, gathered in the title he relinquished in 1936, by a 2 and 1 victory over Phil Farley, sharpshooting Quebec champion from Montreal.

Somerville won the title in 1926, 1928, 1930, 1931 and 1935.

Somerville's game Saturday was typical of the London star. Never flustered over his opponent's lead, that went to a two-up advantage for Farley three times in the 36-hole final, Somerville gunned away at par and let Phil do the worrying when the pressure was on.

Farley's game was not so brilliant as that he shot throughout the six rounds that carried him into the final. Except for the first two rounds Phil had to battle his way all week in closely fought matches that sent him to the last hole twice, just short of the last green once and on to four extra holes once.

This pace, calling often for sub-par golf under terrific strain, had Saturday's gallery of 800 guessing whether Phil could remain hot under the cold, calculating golf that is always Somerville's.

Against the relentless pressure of Somerville, Farley's earlier sub-par shooting wouldn't click. When Phil traveled the morning outward nine in par 37, Sandy did the same. On the back nine Phil shot a par 36. So did Sandy.

They went to lunch with Farley one up, largely because of his brilliant performance at the last two holes and a sureness of putting.

They did the first nine of the afternoon in 40's, three over par, in an assortment of good and bad golf, but after the turn when the final pressure came it was Somerville who coolly went to work and shot under par. From the 28th on, Sandy had two birdies and par at the other holes.

Until the final nine of the day Somerville never held a lead of more than one hole, while Farley had a two-up lead three times.

BENNETT WINS TENNIS TITLE

Whips Verne Hughes in Straight Sets to Lift Western Canada Crown

VANCOUVER—All trophies won in the Western Canada lawn tennis championships were being inscribed with Californian names today, after the southerners made a clean sweep of final matches in all major events Saturday.

On the challenge cup, emblematic of the men's singles title, the name of Dick Bennett, Berkeley, will be engraved below that of Los Angeles' Jack Tidball, winner of the crown last year.

Virginia Wolfenden, San Francisco, playing the smart tennis with which all her matches have been marked, won the women's singles when she upset Mrs. Ruby Bixler of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-0. Miss Wolfenden defeated the defending titleholder, Dr. Esther Bartosh, Los Angeles, in a semi-final, Friday.

Miss Wolfenden played her shots to within inches of the sidelines and kept the second-seeded Mrs. Bixler on a continual run.

Bennett's 6-3, 6-0, 11-9 victory over Verne Hughes, Los Angeles, enabled him to complete his sweep of men's singles play without the loss of a single set.

Mrs. Bixler gained a share in a title, pairing with Dr. Bartosh to blast Vancouver's only finalists, Eleanor Young and Caroline Deacon, out of the women's doubles final, 6-3, 6-0.

Hughes attained a measure of revenge over Bennett, when he teamed with his fellow-townsmen, Mort Balogh, to defeat Bennett and Edwin Amark of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, and cop the men's doubles title. Dr. Bartosh and Bellogh won their second titles of the day when they paired, to defeat Hughes and Miss Cecil Miner, Long Beach, 6-3, 6-4, in the mixed event.

All boxla games carded for this week have been postponed, officials of the Victoria Lacrosse Commission announced today.

Deciding Soccer Battle Tonight

Vancouver Johnstons Won 3 to 1 Saturday to Tie Up Canadian Series

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's two top-flight soccer teams, Vancouver Johnstons Nationals and Toronto Ulster United, meet at Carriethers Park here tonight in the final game of their best-of-three series for the Dominion championship.

Both teams have chalked up one victory, Ulster winning the first game Thursday night, 3 to 1, and Nationals staging a comeback Saturday afternoon to take the second game 3 to 1.

Hampered by injuries throughout the series, Ulster welcomed the week-end layoff, and club officials reported the team in better shape than for the previous games.

Another shakeup in the lineups was forecast before the redhandeders take the field in the final battle. The backs have been working well and the half line, while slow, has shown to good effect. But injuries to forwards have given Manager Bob Murdoch plenty of grey hairs.

Norm Bundy, star outside right, injured in the first game, will not likely play tonight and the problem of filling his position is harassing Ulster officials.

Vancouver will probably retain the same lineup that gave them the win Saturday. Leland Morley, who scored two goals when he moved up from left half to inside right, will be on the forward line again tonight. Angelo Perri, the sub who gave a good account of himself in the second game at Marley's old position, will trot out with the coast team in this third game.

side right, is out for the series with a bad leg, and John Johnson, inside right, will likely stay out on the wing in his namesake's position. He played there in the second game.

Rain threatened in Winnipeg early today and it looked as if the going would be heavy.

TWO GOALS UP

Twenty minutes later, Morley put Vancouver ahead, 2 to 0, blasting a terrific shot past Harold Seymour in Ulster goal. Ulster backs failed to clear a previous shot and the big inside right sprinted in hard, kicking the goal from 10 yards out.

Ulster rallied a little when they got the wind at their backs and scored after nine minutes of play in the second half when Tommy Axe, inside left, passed to Sam McNabney, outside right, who was uncovered 10 feet from the Vancouver goal mouth.

McNabney gathered in the pass and scored with ease. Jimmy Waters, at the other side of Nationals' net, did not get near it.

Vancouver kept up an offensive despite their one-goal lead, and with Ulster backs playing up too far, Morley broke away alone, near the middle of the second half. He lunged down the centre of the field and shot from inside the penalty zone just as he was checked hard. The ball twisted through Seymour's fingers and popped into the net, making the score 3 to 1.

Alfred Wakeham Fishing Winner

Victoria Club Ball Victors

In an exhibition game that produced a good brand of ball, the Victoria Baseball Club pulled out with an 8 to 3 victory over the Victoria Indians yesterday afternoon at the Songhees Reservation, Esquimalt.

Two Indian boxla aggregations, Westholme and Victoria, met in the evening, and after an interesting battle finished in an 8 to 8 draw.

Walter Senior and Evelyn Dearman New Singles Titleholders

TORONTO (CP)—Tall, methodical Walter Senior of San Francisco's Golden Gate Club employed a change of pace Saturday to defeat Bobby Murray, Montreal law student, for the Canadian men's singles tennis championship. Faced by a fighter, Senior won in five sets, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

It was the third time in three matches Murray had gone the limit of five sets. He took his gruelling quarter-final with Doug Cameron, Vancouver, and his semi-final with Leonard Hartman, New York, by coming from far behind. Senior had not lost a set in five rounds before meeting Murray.

DEFAULTS FINAL

The Dominion tourney lost considerable lustre when Mary Hardwick of the touring British Wightman Cup team defaulted the women's singles final to her teammate, Evelyn Dearman.

With petite Joan Ingram, Miss Dearman won the women's doubles title over two other cup team members, Miss Hardwick and Margot Lumb, 6-1, 7-5. She joined Laird Watt of Montreal in beating Miss Ingram and Billy Reese of Atlanta, Ga., for the mixed doubles crown, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

The 200-pound veterans, Walter Martin of Toronto and Regina, and David M. Jones of New York, sprang the tournament's biggest surprise by winning the men's doubles. Astonishing the gallery by beating Ross Wilson and Grant McLean of Toronto in three straight sets Friday, they whipped Bobby Murray and Laird Watt in the final, 8-6, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3.

PRESENTS PRIZES

Tommy W. McPherson, first vice-president of the association, presented the prizes in the evening at the Anchorage, the wind-up attracting a record gathering of spectators. Following the prize distribution, President Frank Moore awarded those anglers who caught button fish during the month of July their emblems. The bronze button winners were: Tommy Dickinson, 20 lbs.; Mrs. F. Taft, 22 lbs.; H. D. Cummings, 27 lbs.; Ernie Silburn, 26 1/2 lbs.; M. Lumley, 22 lbs.; Bill Scott, 28 1/2 lbs.; W. B. Dempster, 29 lbs.; Mrs. G. Hardy, 26 lbs. The only silver button went to M. Ball with a 31 1/2-pounder.

EXETER WINS

H.M.S. Exeter's water polo team scored a 5 to 3 win over a select Victoria team Saturday at the Crystal Garden. The visiting navy men handled the ball better and displayed superior teamwork. It is expected a return match will be arranged.

Y SECRETARY RETURNS HOME

Expressing satisfaction on the success of his trip south where he went as far as San Francisco, Frank Paulding, general secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., arrived home yesterday after a month's absence.

Mr. Paulding attended the week's session of Pacific north-west Y.M.C.A. in San Francisco. On the home trip he attended the community chest conference at Lummi Island, near Bellingham, where he gathered some useful information which he said would be of great benefit to the local community chest when it is organized here in October. One of the main points discussed was the relationship between community chests and specific social agencies.

PARADE COMMITTEE

NEWS IN BRIEF

L. F. Cheston of Natal and R. L. Galbraith of Grasmere have been appointed justices of the peace for the province.

Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold a military 500 card game in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street, tomorrow evening at 8.

Floyd James, an Indian, was fined $25 when he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of being in possession of an intoxicant.

The meeting scheduled for Wednesday night of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, has been postponed until a later date. It has been called off due to Wednesday being a holiday.

Although it is midsummer, a number of inquiries are being received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from persons, chiefly in eastern Canada, who are considering spending the winter here.

The appointment of Dr. J. C. Poole of Fraser Lake as medical health officer and school health officer for the district was announced at the Legislative Buildings today. He replaces Dr. W. C. Pitts, who has moved to Victoria.

Third Avenue, Port Alberni, has been classified as a secondary highway by the provincial government. Under this arrangement the road will be surfaced with the costs split evenly between the government and Port Alberni.

By order-in-council today the British Columbia government vested in the Provincial Secretary the authority to order release of criminally insane persons when their terms of imprisonment expire while they are in a provincial mental hospital. Formerly this was subject to cabinet order.

The largest naval contingent to participate in a parade here will march Wednesday afternoon in the anniversary event arranged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. H.M.S. Exeter will land four seaman platoons, a Royal Marine platoon and the Royal Marine band, and 200 members of the Canadian naval forces will also join the parade.

Magistrate Henry Hall returned to his duties in the City Police Court this morning after a motor tour down the Pacific Coast. Accompanied by Mrs. Hall, the magistrate returned by way of Vancouver and crossed over to Vancouver Island, concluding his holiday at Comox. While on the mainland he paid an inspectional visit to the Boys' Industrial School.

When he pleaded guilty in the Provincial Police Court this morning to a charge of being intoxicated while in control of a car, Bishan Singh, a Hindu, was sentenced to seven days' imprisonment. The accused was arrested Saturday night by Sergeant Richard Harvey, who told the court the accused had struck three autos while attempting to drive his machine out of licensed premises on the Island Highway.

Ending a two weeks' tour of the interior, Premier Pattullo will return to Victoria Saturday. Later this month the Premier will go to Bella Coola to welcome the Governor-General after his camping trip through Tweedsmuir Park. Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, is also in the interior this week. He will visit Salmon Arm and Okanagan Valley towns, returning to Victoria Friday.

Theft of a quantity of candy and some bottles of sauce and canned goods, the latter being later recovered, was reported by Stevenson's Candy Store, Yates Street, to city police yesterday. The theft occurred on Saturday evening and was believed to have been the work of youths who gained access to the rear of the premises through a basement door. The sauce and canned goods were found in a lot between Yates and View Streets.

According to W. A. Thorn of the meteorological observatory at Gonzales, the blaze of light across the sky yesterday evening about 10.30, believed by many to be the northern lights, was the searchlights from a ship in the straits. Mr. Thorn said the position of the lights across the sky was contrary to the position of the northern lights. The reason they were so bright was due to the large amount of water vapor in the atmosphere.

Dr. R. M. Petrie of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory will take as his subject "What Is a Star?" at the third meeting in the series of summer astronomy classes, this evening at 8.15 o'clock at Victoria College. Following the talk, the heavens will be observed through a number of telescopes. Anyone interested in astronomy may enroll for the course, which is under the auspices of the Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

Expect To Start Health Plan Slowly

Cabinet Sub-committee Will Discuss Plans This Week For Legislature

Establishment of health insurance in single industrial areas on a trial basis now appears as the likely solution to British Columbia's problem of dealing with the proposal.

This week, it is expected, a special sub-committee of the provincial cabinet, consisting of Hon. John Hart, Hon. George M. Weir and Hon. George S. Pearson, will meet to draft plans for the government to present to the Legislature in October.

First decision for the committee will be whether the Health Insurance Act, passed in the spring of last year, should be scrapped in favor of a new plan, or whether it can be used in modified form. While the present act will form the basis on which to work, it is generally believed a new scheme entirely will be drafted.

Since the plebiscite called for a "progressively applied" system of health insurance, it is regarded as certain that a plan for one industrial area will be devised as a start. Dr. Weir, sponsor of the original plan, is now said to favor this idea. In the first draft bill on health insurance provision was made for applying it gradually in this way. When it was soundly established in one area other parts of the province could be brought into the scheme until it became general.

Another suggestion is that benefits, instead of going to a man's wife and children, should be limited to himself and the contributions reduced accordingly. The existing health act calls for 2 per cent from a wage-earner and 1 per cent from his employer.

No attempt will be made, it is understood, to go ahead with the present health plan which was blocked by refusal of the doctors to accept it. Members of the sub-committee are reported as agreed that changes must be made. In any event, health insurance will not start until next year at the earliest.

The health insurance commission continues to mark time meanwhile, as it has done since the scheme was held up in February. The staff has been further reduced within the last month to a few who are keeping the offices open. Mrs. A. O. Robinson, acting secretary, finished her duties on Saturday and her place will not be filled immediately.

Members of the commission are Allan Peebles, chairman; Dr. W. T. Barrett, vice-chairman; Percy Bengough and John Duns-muir. For the moment no changes in personnel are planned, it was intimated officially today, but this may be discussed later.

Five Former Mayors Give Reminiscences

Speakers at City Jubilee Banquet Note Milestone of Progress

Five former mayors of Victoria spoke at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon marking the 75th anniversary of the incorporation of the city of Victoria this afternoon and recalled interesting steps in the progress of the city during their terms of office.

Mayor McGavin extended thanks to all. He knew on such occasions that the present mayor should not be asked to say anything and therefore he asked to be allowed to sit down and hear what former mayors had to say.

Senator G. H. Barnard, mayor of Victoria from 1904 to 1905, said he felt like any mayor that his term in office was the most important. The city finished the Point Ellice Bridge, the first steel bridge ever built in Victoria, while he was in office. The major work during his term was the building and finishing of the retaining wall at James Bay and the agreement with C.P.R. to build the Empress Hotel.

Sanitary conditions outside the small area of the city at that time were terrible, Senator Barnard said. Three cases of typhoid in his own family made him enter the City Council. By means of taxation he was able to extend the sewer system. The first permanent sidewalks were built down Yates Street.

Ex-mayor Barnard gave credit to Ex-mayor Hayward for building of the retaining wall. The harbor was dredged and the mud thrown over the wall. Owing to the amount of water in the mud, drainage of the flats was difficult.

The boat landing was built to prevent the wall from bulging due to the terrific pressure of the mud and water, he said.

START OF PROSPERITY

The ex-mayor felt the start of prosperity in Victoria was the Empress Hotel. The original contract called for $300,000 and millions had been spent.

Alex Stewart, who was mayor for 1914 and 1915, said that his relations with the Council were of the best. He asked for confidence and he received it. He thought that the mayor had too many jobs. One job he never liked was making a speech.

BALANCED BUDGET

Reginald Hayward, who was mayor from 1923 to 1924, said that the difficulty he had as mayor was to balance the budget. The treasurer said it could not be done. After his first year he had a balance of $50,000, the second year $150,000 and it would have grown, had not he been promoted to the Legislature.

He was co-ordinating officer for the whole Pacific Coast when the British fleet was here. He also had the privilege of entertaining the Prince of Wales. His father, he said, entertained King George V.

Herbert Anscomb, who was mayor from 1929 to 1931, said that he faced a condition which no other mayor had faced before, and he hoped that no other mayor would have to face again—unemployment. He said that that unemployment would be a cancer on body politics of Canada forever.

During the last few years there was improvement and, after traveling across Canada and seeing the prairies, the citizen could say "Thank God we live in Victoria."

David Leeming, who was mayor from 1933 to 1936, spoke of the value of the tourist trade, and he was not satisfied with the support of business men and merchants. The tourist trade was worth $5,000,000.

The office of mayor had given him an experience which he would never have missed.

He declared that taxes here were low. The assessment of land now was less than in 1909. He was convinced that the tourist trade could be doubled in five years.

Before introducing the speakers Harold Husband, president of the chamber, paid tribute to past and present mayors and councillors who had guided Victoria as it had changed from a stockaded outpost to a premier city on the Pacific coast.

He saluted the pioneers of the city and extended felicitations to the small band who were left.

He remembered Victoria's motto, Semper Liber, always free, which he felt meant today solvent and prosperous. He looked toward the future and saw great things in store for a city in the greatest trade area of the world—the Pacific coast.

Expressions of regret were received from ex-Mayors J. Carl Pendray and A. J. Morley, who were unable to attend the luncheon. Duncan McBride thanked the speakers. During the meeting George I. Warren, secretary, read extracts from the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce of March 6, 1965.

Will Broadcast City's History

A narrative history of the growth of Victoria, interspersed with interviews with old-timers, will be given by Ted Fox of the Times staff during the broadcast of Victoria's anniversary dinner this evening from 7 to 7.30.

The programme, arranged by the special events department of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will be broadcast over the national network, including stations CROC and CFCT.

A talk by Mayor McGavin will follow opening selections by the band of H.M.S. Exeter. The Arion Club male choir will sing, and Billy Tickle's orchestra will play at the end of the programme.

Bill Herbert, formerly of Victoria, will supervise the broadcast from the Empress Hotel ballroom.

The city on Saturday played hosts to the complement of the Eagle Boat 57 at a stag dinner in the Empress Hotel, where representatives from H.M.S. Exeter and the Royal Canadian Navy mingled with the United States men. Representing the city were Aldermen W. Lloyd Morgan, James Adam, T. W. Hawkins, Ed. Williams and Stanley Okell.

Steels Rally In Late Trading On Wall St. Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels rallied in today's late stock market dealings and some recently hesitant leaders made a better showing.

Rubbers and farm implements exhibited strength from the start, along with an assortment of specialties which were buoyed by earnings and dividend developments.

Many issues, at the same time, lacked vigor on the upside, and moderate losers were in evidence at the finish.

Rails continued to droop and utilities lost their buoyancy of the previous week.

General motors was a relatively lively performer on the advance in anticipation of pleasing dividend news scheduled for release after the close. Chrysler improved at the last.

An uptick of 12 points in this week's steel mill operations trended to bring in support for these stocks.

Although Wall Street was none too happy over the Senate passage of the wage-hour bill, little selling was ascribed to this turn of affairs.

Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
Thirty Industrials, 186.85, up 1.24.

Twenty utilities, 29.78, off 0.31.

Forty bonds, 101.19, off 0.13.

Adventures of Grizzly Adams

I—A FIGHT WITH AN ELK

Perhaps the most famous hunter of grizzly bears was a man called "Grizzly Adams." He lived at a time when men often went out to shoot the big animals.

The elk fell to the ground.

The real name of this hunter and bear-lamer was James Adams. In his youth and young manhood, he was an animal trainer in a show which traveled through New England. After being clawed by a tiger, he waited until his wounds were healed, then made his way westward to St. Louis.

After trying to make a living by selling boots and shoes in St. Louis, Adams again set out in a westward direction. This time he was bound for California. As one of the "49-ers," he took part in the gold rush. Meeting some good fortune, and some ill, during a period of three years, he left the gold fields and went to the high mountains to look for wild animals.

Chiefly by trapping, he captured animals of various kinds, and sent them to places where they could be sold to shows.

While in the Sierra Nevada mountains, Adams made his home near an Indian village. He gave the Indians some of the game he brought down with his trusty rifle, and in return was given clothing made from deer-skin.

One morning the hunter caught sight of a band of half a dozen elk. Going toward them until he was within a distance of about 75 yards, he raised his rifle and fired at the largest of them. The elk fell, and its companions ran away. Telling of what happened next, Adams later declared:

"Supposing him to be dead, I drew my knife and rushed up. The elk, however, was only wounded. When I reach him, he suddenly sprang upon his feet, and jumped with his forelegs against my shoulders. This knocked my knife from my hands.

"Hastily drawing my revolver, I discharged the barrels, one after the other, and hopped around to escape the animal's lunges. One of my shots struck him at the base of his ear, and stunned him. Then I was able to pick my knife from the ground. I ran up and plunged it into his heart."

That was the end of the battle. It had been a dangerous one for the man—since an elk has power to do great damage with its horns.

From time to time, Adams thought of trying to capture a young grizzly bear alive. He knew it would be a hard thing to do, but believed it would be worth trying.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Nearly a year ago I fell in love, or thought I did, with a girl. I was not making a sufficient income to support a wife, but we felt we just couldn't stay apart so we were secretly married. To complicate matters, soon after we were married, I became very ill and since then have been unable to work, so she is still living with her family and I am living with mine. As time elapsed I gradually grew away from her until I no longer loved her, and I have now fallen in love, really and truly, with another girl. But my wife refuses to give me a divorce and says she is going to live with me, even though I do not love her, and swears she will move into my parents' home. I have no money and will not be able to work until fall. What should I do?

W. B. H.

Answer—You will need considerably more backbone than you seem to possess if you escape a secret bride who is determined to have you, whether or no. Evidently she is one of the women who thinks a husband is a husband, no matter how undesirable he might seem to the casual eye, and she is going to hold on to the one she has got, untroubled by the trifling fact that he doesn't love her and doesn't want her.

So there you are and, believe me, you are in a hot spot. The only way you can get out of it is to scrape up enough money to go to some place where you can get a divorce on the ground of mental cruelty, which is dealing with glittering generalities. I have said over and over and over again in this column, and I repeat it for your benefit, that the greatest harm that any man can do to a woman is to marry her after he has ceased to love her, and especially when he has fallen in love with some other woman. Because no man who marries a woman he doesn't care for can possibly be a good husband or make her happy.

Marriage requires many sacrifices and calls for great forbearance on the part of the man. He must see the money he earns go for the support of the family instead of on his own indulgences. He must put up with feminine peculiarities and ways. And he cannot do this cheerfully and gladly unless he loves his wife so much that he puts her pleasures and happiness before his own.

No woman is ever put in a crueler position than the one who is an unwanted wife and who knows that her husband married her from a sense of duty, or because he had not the nerve to refuse to marry her after he wearied of her.

In your particular case the happiness of the greatest number is to be considered. If you let the marriage stand, three of you will be miserable. If your wife will give you a divorce, then at least two will be happy.

But the jam in which you find yourself shows the folly of a secret marriage. If you had waited until you could have afforded to marry, you would have found out that you had just a passing fancy for the girl and the little affair would have worn itself out without any serious complications.

The old convention that made it a point of honor for a man not to ask a woman to marry him until he was able to support her was founded on good, hard, horse sense. At any rate, take this bit of advice from me: Wait until your emotions have time to tell before you marry again.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My brother is married to a fine girl who makes him the best sort of a wife, but for two years he has been in love with her best friend, who, I suppose, loves him, as she accepts his attentions and encourages him in being untrue to his wife. I just feel that I can't stand it any longer to have them act that way right under my sister-in-law's nose in her own house. Shall I tell her? I don't know if she is blind or just dumb. ALICE.

Answer—Perhaps she is neither and she just pretends not to know in order to save her face and in the hope that the affair will wear itself out and that she can save her home if she does not make an issue of her husband's unfaithfulness. There are women that are wise and brave. At any rate, don't tell her. If she doesn't know, let her live in her fool's paradise as long as she can. DOROTHY DIX.

C.N.R. Terminal Is Discussed

MONTREAL—Utilization of the unfinished Canadian National Railways terminal in Montreal was discussed in London by Hon.
H. H. Stevens, M.P., with Grand Trunk stockholders, the Reconstruction Party leader disclosed on his arrival here.

Mr. Stevens, arriving here Friday from Quebec, where he disembarked from the liner Duchess of Richmond, said he had been in touch with London holders of senior stock of the old Grand Trunk regarding the question of the Montreal terminal and their rights as shareholders.
"I am convinced," he said, "the whole question of the hideous hole in the ground in the heart of Montreal, and claims of senior Grand Trunk stockholders can be settled without any additional cost to Canada."

Ship Is Ashore On Japan Coast

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—Fifteen men of the 4,994-ton British steamship Essex Manor, which ran aground yesterday on the island of Hokkaido, were taken ashore from the stranded vessel today. Twenty men remained aboard to continue efforts to re-float the ship, whose engine-room was flooded.

Ss. Wm. J. Stewart to Con- tinue Work at Cape Scott After Loading Supplies

Hydrographic survey operations off Cape Scott, northerly tip of the west coast of Vancouver Island, will be continued this week by Ss. Wm. J. Stewart, now in port loading supplies and bunker coal.

The Dominion hydrographic survey vessel, which is berthed alongside the Transport Department's wharf in the upper harbour, expects to get away tomorrow afternoon and will be back on the job the following day in Brooks Bay.

Since she was last here six weeks ago the Wm. J. Stewart has experienced bad weather off the West Coast with strong northwest winds throwing up a heavy swell which hampered the survey work in the Cape Scott coast area, according to H. D.
Parizeau, officer in charge of the hydrographic survey.

Good progress was made, however, when weather permitted.
The Wm. J. Stewart has about four days work ahead of her to complete soundings and charting at Brooks Bay, and unless these operations are delayed by further bad weather, she will leave Cape Scott and proceed to the west coast of Graham Island, Queen Charlotte, to carry out survey work between Point Louis and Frederick Island.

WORK ACCOMPLISHED

An idea of the importance of the hydrographic survey which has been completed on this coast since 1920 was given today by Mr. Parizeau.

Survey of the main ship channels has been completed from Vancouver to a point behind the bridge at New Westminster on the Fraser River, to Victoria and Esquimalt and along the west coast of Vancouver Island to Nootka Sound, and the report covering this has been published.

The work accomplished has been doubled, it was indicated, since the Wm. J. Stewart was commissioned, replacing Ss. Lil-loet.

The house-boat Pender is completing surveys at the mouth of Rivers Inlet and expects to finish in about 10 days time.

The Pender will later come to Victoria for overhaul, arriving here in October.

NEW CONTROL FOR UNION CO.

B.C. Coast Fleet Is Taken Over By Vancouver
Syndicate

VANCOUVER—Union Steamships Ltd., operating a fleet of 12 coastwise vessels and summer resorts in British Columbia, today was under new ownership.

The company, established over 50 years ago, was acquired Saturday from English interests by a Vancouver syndicate comprising
E. E. Buckfield, Gordon Farrell,
M. J. K. Allen, W. G. Munrin, W.
C. Woodward, Capt. W. M. Crawford, W. H. Malkin, Bryce W.
Fleck and F. H. Glendenning.

Since 1911, when the J. H. Wels-ford Company of Liverpool purchased a controlling interest in the company, the line had been operated by English interests.

The management will continue under direction of Harold Brown, president and general manager.
One of the oldest companies in the province, Union Steamships Ltd., was established here in the eighties as Burrard Inlet Towing Company, selling out in 1890 to Union Steamship Company of British Columbia.

At that time its fleet consisted of Ss. Leonora, 57-foot wooden paddle-wheeler; Ss. Senator, Ss.
Cuth, and the tug Skidgate.
Three steel vessels, Capilano, Comor and Coquitlam, were added in 1890.
Ss. Catala is the newest vessel of the fleet.

Dropped Anchor To Save Crash

NEW WESTMINSTER—Ss.
Trelawney proceeded on her way to Vancouver Island points after narrowly escaping a collision with the half-opened span of the Fraser River bridge Friday night.
The heavily loaded deepsea freighter, outbound from Fraser Mills with lumber, dropped her anchors in time to check her progress as she drifted towards the span which had jammed when help open.

The freighter returned upstream to await repairs to the span, which were completed early today.

She is under charter to Anglo-Canadian Shipping Company.

Wrestling Bout Ended in Water

NANAIMO — Two Nanaimo sailors related how a friendly wrestling match on the deck of a 50-foot yacht, Alcho almost ended fatal for them when they tumbled overboard.

The yacht was off the—Ennace Island lighthouse, Walter Beck and Earl Smith said, when they went overboard and the vessel proceeded 500 yards before they were missed by the crew who were below at the time.

A opossum mother can carry up to a dozen babies in her pouch.
